HOLLAND INDIGNANT AT BREACH OF FAITH

Seven Vessels, Throught To Be Under Safe Conduct, Ruthlessly Were Sunk

BUILDING UP ARMY

Great Britain Now Has Force Estimated At Five Million Men

Associated Press, Feb. 24.—Widespread indignation is reported to have been aroused in Holland by the torpedoing of seven Dutch steamers in the English channel.

Three of the vessels sunk aggregate a tonnage of fifteen thousand. The four others remained afloat, but were badly damaged.

The Dutch foreign office stated that the steamers had availed themselves of the German offer to sail together from Falmouth.

The crews of all seven vessels are believed to have been saved.

Greater Army.

The British army estimates, issued Saturday, provide an army of 5,000,000 men, exclusive of India. The navy personnel numbers 150,000.

The British report the village of Petit Maraument, south of Ancre, taken, and the line south and east of Serre, advanced on a front of a mile and a half.

BELIEVED DUTCH SHIPS HAD SAFE CONDUCT.

Falmouth, England, Feb. 24.—The fleet of seven Dutch vessels left Falmouth, Thursday; three were outward bound from Holland and four were homeward-bound.

When a short way out they were attacked by a German submarine. No inquiry was made of the British authorities as to sailing precautions, as the ships were believed to be sailing under a safe conduct from Germany, and that captains had received special private instructions from the Dutch government.

BUILDING FOR DE FUNIAK.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Senator Fletcher today introduced an amendment to the public buildings bill to appropriate $75,000 for a postoffice building at De Funiak Springs, Fla.

GEORGIA LYNCHINGS

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 24.—Governor Harris issued a statement today, based on investigations by his office, showing seven lynchings in Georgia in 1916, with twelve victims. He takes issue with compilations by Tuskegee Institute and the Chicago Tribune. He finding three of their reported cases were of manslayers killed while resisting arrest by lawful authorities.

DAMAGES OF $25,000 ASKED FOR INJURY TO ALICE MATTHEWS

The city of Miami was made defendant in an action for $25,000 damages which was filed in the circuit court yesterday. The suit is the outgrowth of an accident at the avenue D draw several weeks ago, when little Alice Mathews, the little ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Mathews, was seriously injured through the alleged carelessness of the city authorities in failing to provide a suitable railing at the bridge draw.

Only a praecipe for summons in the suit was filed yesterday and the case is made returnable at the March rule day. The suit is brought by the child's father through James T. Sanders, attorney.

FOOD RIOTERS STORM HOTEL

Fashionable Hostelry Scene of One of New York's Disturbances

New York, Feb. 24.—After participating in a mass meeting at Madison Square Garden to protest against the high cost of food, several hundred women stormed the Waldorf-Astoria this afternoon, demanding to see Governor Whitman. They were refused admittance.

They started a demonstration, requiring the police reserves.

The governor was at another hotel.

Several persons were injured when the police were forced to charge the crowd.

One woman is believed to have been knocked down in the street and rendered unconscious. Four arrests were made.

The governor, at Hotel St. Regis, told a committee from the Madison Square meeting who called on him, that he would do everything in his power to co-operate with the mayor in securing legislation early next week which will permit the city to appropriate money to buy food and relieve distress.

MR. EWAN'S ESTATE BEQUEATHED BY WILL TO GEORGE W. ALLEN

Hon. George W. Allen of Key West, who came here Friday on receipt of the news of J. W. Ewan's death, returns today to his home, having made satisfactory disposition of all of Mr. Ewan's affairs.

Under the terms of Mr. Ewan's will Mr. Allen is made executor of the estate and sole beneficiary, the deceased having conveyed by deed before his death all other bequests he desired to make.

The estate left to Mr. Allen consists of the Tenth street residence, a number of lots at Cocoanut Grove and several hundred acres in Monroe county.

Mr. Allen and the deceased were bosom friends for a great many years visiting each other several times each year. The will under which the bequests were made was drawn more than two years ago. It contained a request that Mr. Allen should assume charge of and settle up all business affairs after the testator's demise.

The will has been filed for probate and Mr. Allen has taken charge of the estate as executor.

RECORD BREAKING RUN CROSS STATE AND FISHING PARTY

A record-breaking run from Tampa to Miami was made last Monday when Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stalker returned from Tampa in their new Overland six. Leaving Tampa at 6 a. m the distance of 380 miles was covered in seventeen hours and twenty-five minutes. One hundred and twelve miles of the distance was heavy sand. During their visit to the west coast Sarasota and Lakeland were visited.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stalker, who have spent the winter at The Minneapolis, entertained a party of guests aboard their boat celebrating Washington's birthday with a fishing trip out on the ocean. Ideal weather and calm waters made this one of the most enjoyable of the many fishing trips afforded the hotel guests by Mr. and Mrs. Stalker. Partaking of the splendid fish dinner aboard the boat were: Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Grant, Mr. Archbold Duncan, Miss Grace Duncan, Akron, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Nuefeld, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Moore, Mrs. A. E. Winters and little daughter, Grace of Tomah, Wis.; Claude Porter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stalker and Mrs. H. Freeland, Miami.

HASTENING THE TIME WHEN THE PRESIDENT MUST ACT

Developments Appear To Show That Neutral Interests Being Disregarded

Washington, Feb. 24.—While there is no outward evidence of a change in the president's plan for meeting the German crisis, today several developments appeared to be hastening eventualities.

Another violation of international law was added to Germany's account in an apparent attack, without warning, on the Norwegian steamer Alice, with an American negro, Theodore Joseph, among the survivors.

The onslaught on Dutch shipping strengthened the conviction of officials that neutral interests are being ruthlessly disregarded under the new German policy.

It is generally understood that the president will ask authority from congress to deal with the crisis before adjournment of that body, but it is not believed that the Fall resolution will be the basis of such action.

It is considered possible that Secretary Lansing, who is on a three-day vacation in Virginia, may be preparing an important document for the president.

A serious crisis is expected in Holland and other European neutrals are being closely watched.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS GEORGIA'S PROHIBITION LAW

Atlanta, Feb. 24.—The supreme court today upheld the state prohibition law limiting the amount of liquor a citizen may have on hand, and authorizing the seizure and confiscation of liquor in excess of the prescribed amount.

APPROPRIATES MONEY FOR PRICE INVESTIGATION

Washington, Feb. 24.—The house tonight adopted an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill advocated by the president, appropriating $400,000 for an investigation by the federal trade commission of the high cost of food.

The measure was opposed by Representative Fitzgerald, who urged an export embargo on foods instead.

The vote was 83 to 51.

APPEAL IN PETERS SUIT

Shutts, Smith & Bowen, counsel for the Florida East Coast Railway company, yesterday filed a bond in the sum of $85,000, and sued out a writ of error in the Peters suit. The filing of the bond with the clerk of the circuit court protects the railway company's appeal from the judgment that was recently awarded T. J. Peters by a jury in the circuit court.

POLAND IS A PROBLEM

Petrograd, Feb. 24.—That the political reorganization of Poland is the problem to be solved entirely by Russia's determination was expressed by nationalist party leaders.

International guarantees in regard to Poland will meet no sympathy in Russian political circles, except such guarantees as respect additions to Russian Poland.

A special committee consisting of heads of ministries, the president of the duma, president of the imperial council, the chief of the general staff and two former ministers has been appointed to work out a basis for a project to fix the future status of Poland.

MRS. WHITE STRUCK BY AN AUTOMOBILE PAINFULLY INJURED

Mrs. J. H. White of 234 Second street was painfully but apparently not seriously hurt last night at seven o'clock when struck by a Ford automobile driven by Jacob Anton, of Biscayne Heights.

Mrs. White was taken to her home, after an effort was made to place her in a hospital, which, however, had no vacant cot. Dr. E. M. Jones, who was summoned, thought last night that Mrs. White's injuries were slight, consisting of bruises on one shoulder, elbow and hand, and the shock incident to the accident.

The police authorities began an investigation by making a list of witnesses to the accident, and entering on the police blotter Mr. Anton's name and address. Today they will examine the witnesses and be guided in their further actions by the results of their examination.

Mr. Anton said he was blinded by the lights on an approaching car and did not see Mrs. White and her woman companion until after his car had struck Mrs. White.

"THE PRODIGAL SON."

Dr. White especially invites the young men of Miami to hear his sermon Sunday night in Central school auditorium, avenue C and Ninth street, on "The Prodigal Son." This is doubtless Dr. White's greatest appeal to men. Men who seldom, if ever, attend church, should hear this sermon out of respect to the memory of their boyhood homes. Mothers' songs will be sung.

BEAT

The President To It—Senator Asks Authority To Use Army and Navy

SPRINGS A SURPRISE

By Introducing Resolution For Which President Wilson Was Expected To Ask

Washington, Feb. 24.—After a bitter debate on the international situation in which the republicans disclaimed any desire to withhold support from the president, Senator Fall today introduced a resolution to authorize the president to use the armed forces of the United States to protect American rights on the seas.

It was such a resolution as the president expected to ask congress for before adjournment, but, coming at this time from a republican senator, it was a complete surprise to administration leaders.

It promises to complicate and embarrass an already much-mixed-up situation.

The republicans started today a stubborn filibuster against the excess on profits tax of the revenue bill.

Senator's Fall's resolution authorizes the president "to direct the commanders of armed vessels of the United States to protect American ships and property and to take, seize or destroy, if unable to take, armed vessels of the central powers, particularly those of Germany, which commit or threaten to commit depredations against ships carrying Americans or American property."

The president is further authorized, in the event of a declaration of war against the United States, before the next session of congress, to call into service, in addition to the regular army and the national guard, a half million men.

NAVAL DIVISION BI-WEEKLY MEETING SET FOR MARCH 5

The bi-weekly meeting of the Miami naval division, scheduled for tomorrow night, has been postponed to Monday, March 5, to allow for making the necessary arrangements for the physical examination of applicants. Dr. Stewart S. Jeffery has been appointed examining physician of the division, and all applicants will have to appear before him before their enrollment. Together with Dr. Jeffery, Dr. W. S. Gramling and Dr. E. K. Jaudon have been appointed an examining board to make the physical examination of the commissioned officers.

Lieutenant Commander George B. Graham, Lieutenant Marcy B. Darnall and Lieutenant J. J. Kirschenbaum have been appointed an examining board to inquire into the fitness and qualifications of commissioned officers. The time for this examination will be announced later.

All members who are to be enrolled are expected to present themselves for the physical examination at the Germania club, Monday, March 5, at 7:30 p. m.

SENDING KINGFISH CAUGHT OFF MIAMI TO CINCINNATI

Patrons of the Hotel Walton in Cincinnati are eating fish caught off Miami by Cincinnati visitors. Seven barrels of kingfish and other fine varieties, including mackerel, have been shipped to that hotel by Fletcher Bachrach, proprietor of the place, who was recently on a visit to his father-in-law, Meyer Silverglade, in whose yacht the catches were made. A barrel of fish was also sent to Memphis, Tenn., recently by Louis Sambucetti, who spent about ten days here recently.

BIDS TO BE OPENED FOR Y. M. C. A. WORK TOMORROW NIGHT

At a meeting of the full board of directors of the Miami Y. M. C. A. in the library of Shutts, Smith and Bowen's law office, Burdine building, Monday night, bids for the construction of the Y. M. C. A. building will be opened.

As nine contractors called for plans, it is expected that number of bids will be filed by seven o'clock tomorrow night.

CAR

Shortage Situation Continues To Improve, Say Reports

EMBARGO ON EXPORTS

May Be Demanded As One of Remedies For Climbing Prices

Washington, Feb. 24.—There is continued improvement in the car shortage situation.

The dispatch west of many trains of box cars for transportation of foodstuffs to the western cities, proposals for many remedies in congress, including an embargo on the export of food, and activity in the department of justice, marked the day's developments in the administration's consideration of the nation-wide rise in prices.

A telegraphic request was issued to all roads in the country by the interstate commerce commission, requesting information regarding embargoes on all classes of freight.

Federal grand juries in New York, Boston and Chicago, upon direction of the attorney general, were urged to consider evidence of conspiracies to advance prices.

REVENUE BILL VOTE TO COME WEDNESDAY

Washington, Feb. 24.—The most spectacular filibuster the capital has seen in years kept the senate in session until midnight and was ended only when the republican leaders directing it secured a pledge from democrats that the administration revenue bill will not be urged to a vote until Wednesday.

Democrats are facing what they declared to be a republican attempt to break down the administration program and force an extra session of congress, which threatened to keep the senate in continuous session over Sunday if necessary to secure passage revenue measure.

Debate included hot exchanges between democrats and republicans on the president's policy in dealing with the international situation and submarine crisis.

Finally republican leaders submitted a proposition for a vote Wednesday night provided, in the meantime, appropriation bills may be brought up by unanimous consent. Democrats accepted, believing the arrangement gave a change to save enough of their legislative program and avert an extra session.

Besides other legislation, however, three most important supply bills, the army, navy and Sundry Civil, carrying appropriations aggregating almost a billion dollars, have not been taken up in the senate. Several senators feel that a vote on the revenue bill Wednesday will not necessarily avoid an extra session.

LIMIT IN BATTLESHIPS FOR AMERICAN WATERS

Washington, Feb. 24.—An 80,000-ton battleship, mounting fifteen eighteen-inch guns and costing fifty millions, will be the largest ship the Panama canal and American harbors could use, according to a report of the navy department to congress, published today.

BISHOP HAMILTON IN LECTURE HERE NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

Bishop John W. Hamilton is booked to arrive in Miami Tuesday of this week, and will give his lecture "Some Folks of Quality at Boston," at the White Temple that evening. His reputation as a lecturer precedes him, and the early demand for tickets comes from people who have heard him on the platform elsewhere.

Brought south by the Methodists of Sebring, Florida, to dedicate a new church building through the personal influence of Mr. Sebring, he has consented to come here. This further bears out the practice of local Methodists to bring representative men to their pulpit from time to time.

The names of the candidates thus selected shall be reported promptly to the board of directors, who shall cause them to be publicly announced to the membership at least ten days prior to the annual meeting. The candidate receiving the highest number of votes among the candidates in the respective bureaus shall be declared elected.

The chairman of the nine bureaus, agricultural, conventions and publicity, industrial, waterways, mercantile, traffic, civic, Everglades and real estate, have elected to hold their meetings on Wednesday, Feb. 28th, in the order named, beginning at two o'clock.

The members are considered to be in good standing when all of the members' obligations to the Chamber of Commerce have been paid to date, and no member shall be eligible to vote in an election of officers who is not in good standing.

The polls will be open at the office of the Chamber of Commerce March 12, between the hours of twelve o'clock noon and seven o'clock p. m., and the annual meeting will be held at eight o'clock to receive the report of the canvassers of the vote, reports of officers and committees and to transact other business.

RACE IS FAST FROM MIAMI TO GUM KEY

Raven III of Commodore Kotcher Wins Over Fisher's Shadow III

FIFTY MILE STRETCH

To the Nearest Island of Bahama Group—Finish Is Almost A Tie

Raven III, Commodore Charles W. Kotcher's fast express cruiser won from Shadow III, owned by Carl G. Fisher, yesterday, in the first of a series of off-shore races for boats of this type, held in connection with the annual motor boat regatta of last week. The race was run from Miami to Gun Key, the nearest of the Bahama group of islands.

Promptly at eight o'clock C. D. Cushing of the Biscayne Bay Yacht Club gave the signal from the yacht club wharf, firing the small brass cannon and hoisting the flag. The boats were off, and started slowly because of the large number of yachts anchored in the vicinity of the yacht club, where the race began. The yachts returned at 1:10 p. m.

The race was an exciting one, with the craft always close to each other, and there was scarcely a length between the Raven III and Shadow III, when they finished.

Gun Key is approximately fifty miles distant from Miami.

This race was run instead of the Miami-Nassau event, which was called off because of conditions in Nassau arising from the European war. The Nassau Development Board wrote to the Miami Chamber of Commerce suggesting that as the tourists were all leaving Nassau and the government regulations were stringent regarding lights in the city, and boats entering the port, the race be postponed.

It had been expected that Nicholas Metzner's fast cruiser Joanna, built by the Albany Boat Works expressly for the Miami races, would take part in the Miami regatta and in the long distance races, but for some unannounced reason Joanna has failed to arrive, although it is believed Mr. Metzner is on his way to Miami in his cruiser.

The next event on the long distance program is a race from Miami to Key West, and is scheduled to begin at 9 a. m. on March 3rd, and will be followed on March 10th by a race from Miami to Palm Beach pier head beginning at 9 a. m.

The last two of the ocean races will be run on March 17th and March 24th, the first being from Key West to Miami, and the second from Palm Beach Pier head to Miami. Both will begin at 9 a. m.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR CHARTER

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned intend to apply to the Honorable H. Pierre Branning, Judge of the Circuit Court of the Eleventh Judicial Circuit of Florida, Dade County, on the 12th day of March, A. D. 1917, at the hour of ten o'clock, in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, for the granting of a Charter to the undersigned under the corporate name of "THE DADE COUNTY RESCUE HOME." ANNOUNCEMENT

Dr. John L. North wishes to announce to his friends the removal of his office to the third floor of the new Ralston building, on avenue C.

OLD SETTLER BUYS CAPE SABLE LANDS

Some nineteen years ago Mr. Steve Roberts, with his wife and numerous children, was cruising around Florida bay, living as best they could by hunting and fishing. The little craft in which they made their home sprung a leak and they were forced to take to the land to make necessary repairs.

Mr. Roberts, having been raised on a farm and been a tiller of the soil himself for the most of his life, was quick to recognize the beauty of the surroundings and the fertility of the soil at Sape Sable, so decided he would make the spot on which they landed the future home for himself and family.

He proceeded to file on the land and to take out necessary papers for the purpose of acquiring the property that the government permits home-seekers to own. It was a lucky leak for Mr. Roberts.

He has reared his family to manhood and womanhood; they in turn have married and given him grandchildren, and all are still enjoying the best of health in their pioneer home. Mr. Roberts quickly assumed leadership in this sparsely settled community and has been active throughout these many years in all that pertains to the betterment of the community and a development of its bounteous resources.

Last week Mr. Roberts realized that the activity now taking place around his home would require his being forced to own more land if he desired to keep pace with his new neighbors, so he purchased a tract adjacent to his present holdings.

No man has a greater knowledge or fuller appreciation of Cape Sable and its wonderful resources than has Mr. Roberts, and the fact that he has bought a tract after having lived there all these years should be pretty weighty evidence that Cape Sable is a mighty good spot in which to settle.

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping, it is a sure sign of worms. A remedy for these parasites will be found in WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE. It not only clears out the worms, but it restores health and cheerfulness. Price 25c per bottle. Sold by Eagle Drug Co.

THE BRAND OF CAIN

Marks this man. He was a king, but he committed the greatest crime in history. Circumstance gave him power to mould the fate of a nation, and he sent his people to war—such a war as the world never had known.

Submarines, airships, liquid fire, poisonous gases, a score more of modern engines and elements of destruction made the conflict appalling, demoniac. A spectacle so terrifying, overwhelming as to thrill and grieve the rest of humanity. It is that war you see in

Cinderella Rehearsals For Two-Night Presentation Benefit of Business Women

The Central school auditorium—and sometimes of nights, the kindergarten rooms—and the halls and the front steps have been for the past week the picture of activity. And all this week the activity will still be there, only much more so. The reason revolves like a maelstrom about an energetic masculine figure, who seems to have conquered the hitherto impossible feat of being in more than two or three places at once.

If any one should ask—although really, everybody knows—it is Mr. Al. F. Strouse who in a week is producing the musical comedy, "The Irish Cinderella" for the Miami Business Woman's League to be given Friday and Saturday nights at the Central School auditorium.

The musical comedy is obviously to be a real musical comedy with all the snap and go of real professional work. It boasts a chorus list of two hundred people and a number of principals whose work has to be the real taing in drama or Mr. Strouse will know the reason why.

Rehearsals have been going on night and day. First Mr. Strouse is putting the principals through the first act, then he has the Harem Scarem girls, then the Flag girls—and maybe in the middle of all this he will stop to tear off his collar, for his principle is that if there is to be rep in the final production the director has to have it all the time. And there is not one of those really hard working chorus people who wouldn't agree that Mr. Strouse has it.

The only real difficulty with the rehearsals of the principals is that they always want to stop and laugh at the witty lines. Which is a thing that really must be left strictly to the audience.

The cast for the "Irish Cinderella" which is promising to be one of the cleverest comedy productions Miami has had, is as follows:

Prologue—Robert Louis Zoll.
Uncle Sam—Al. F. Strouse.
Birdie McGoogin, the Irish Cinderella—Alice Hill.

Miss Dotty Daffodil—Mrs. Fred Hand.

A few of the different choruses are as follows:

ENTERTAINED AT DINNER IN ROYAL PALM GRILL

Mr. and Mrs. Everest George Sewell entertained at dinner last evening at the grill of the Hotel Royal Palm in honor of the Misses Jane and Frances Tatum, Bess Burdine and her house guests Elsie Alexander and Marion Dunsan.

The long and charmingly decorated table occupied one end of the grill room. As a most unusual centre decoration Mrs. Sewell had used a vine covered, arched arbor, covering a square mirror lake which reflected the light of the yellow shaded candles through the green tracery of the arbor. The colors were yellow and lavender and the flowers yellow tulips and violets. Yellow butterflies hovered over the arbor while a tiny lavender butterfly hung above each violet painted place card. Huge bows of yellow satin ribbon wreathed with smilax were placed occasionally down the length of the table between the shaded candles.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell's guests were the Misses Jane and Frances Tatum, Bess Burdine, Elsie Alexander, Marion Dunsan, Mary Miller, Hazel Davis, Winnifred March, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Reilly, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Romfh, Mr. and Mrs. Bethel Blanton Tatum, Judge and Mrs. John C. Gramling, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Hanan, Mr. and Mrs. James Gilman, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Koons, and the Messrs. Roger Jannus, Ed. Haynes, Louis Koons, Paul Chalfin, Gilbert Johnson, Clement Chinn, Facio Dunham, Beal Siler, Dick Bullen.

Very many other grill parties seemed to be the thing at the Royal Palm last night. They were as follows:

Mr. Burke, entertained a jolly party of eight guests, Mr. Teare for ten, Mr. Ayers for four, Mr. DeWeise six, Mr. Rockwell six, Mr. Bentz eight, Mr. Morrow eight, Mr. Whitcomb six, Mr. Rand four, Mr. Heims ten, Mr. Grant six, Mr. Eaton four, Mr. Carter four, Mr. Allen six, Mrs. Gilbert eight and Mr. Joseph Greaves eight.

Mrs. Grace Manlove will entertain the Everglades chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Housekeepers Club at Cocoanut Grove on Monday the twenty-sixth at three p. m. All visiting daughters are cordially invited to attend. The Cocoanut Grove bus will leave the corner of Twelfth street and Avenue D at 1:45 and at 2:30.

STANTON MEMORIAL LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of the Stanton Memorial Baptist church of Buena Vista met on Friday afternoon. Several readings were given on interesting Bible subjects, after which the business was discussed.

The rummage sale was again spoken of. A number of the ladies spent a few hours in Miami on Wednesday last, collecting rummage and were delighted with the interest shown them by so many.

The ladies would be glad if friends would still bear the rummage sale in mind and call phone 424X if they have any articles to help with.

D. A. R. OF JACKSONVILLE RECEPTION TO MRS. FOSTER.

From the Jacksonville Metropolis comes the following account of a meeting interesting to all D. A. R. members here:

"The Katherine Livingston chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, gave a reception yesterday afternoon at 3:30 in the ball room of the Seminole hotel, the principal guest being Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster of Atlanta, Ga., vice-president general from Georgia of the national society, Daughters of the American Revolution.

"Invited to meet this distinguished guest were the members of the local D. A. R. chapters, visitors and executive boards of the women's organizations in Jacksonville.

"The decorations of red, white and blue prevailed in the ball room. Shields were hung on the wall and rosettes of red, white and blue bunting and many flags were used artistically.

"Mrs. James A. Craig, regent of the Katherine Livingston chapter, introduced the guest of honor, Mrs. Foster, who gave a very interesting talk on the general work of the national organization of the D. A. R. This society, she said, had an admitted membership of 128,000 and an actual membership of over 95,000 from all parts of the United States.

"Mrs. Foster is particularly interested and active in the educational work of the D. A. R., and in Georgia has served as chapter officer. State regent and now as vice-president general and has efficiently done the work of the state chairman on patriotic education. She compiled the Revolutionary Reader, which is of historical value, and the proceeds from this book are devoted to educational work in Georgia.

"Mrs. Foster is a gifted speaker and in her appeal for every woman eligible to be a daughter she was most enthusiastically applauded. She then gave an illustrated talk on Memorial Continental hall, numerous slides showing the situation of the hall which is the home of the D. A. R. There were also slides of the grounds surrounding the hall as well as inside views. Then pictures of the founders of the society were flashed on the screen, of all the president generals, including Mrs. William Cumming Story, the present officer, and Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey, state regent of Kansas, the candidate for the office who was recently endorsed by the Georgia State conference, D. A. R.

Mrs. Foster at the conclusion of her talk answered questions concerning the flag law which is to be presented to the Georgia legislature by the D. A. R. and of the society magazine.

"The Star Spangled Banner" was then sung by all present, standing, Miss Nellie Joseph playing the accompaniment.

"During the informal social hour the guests had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Foster, who is a very charming woman as well as a very brilliant and capable one.

"Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Ralph Payne, chairman of the committee in charge, and Mrs. T. G. Hoyt, Mrs. W. Brown, Mrs. C. Herbert Purdy, Mrs. Mellen C. Greely and Miss Ruth Rich."

GAINES WILSON'S PARTY TO HIS YOUNG FRIENDS.

On Friday evening Gaines R. Wilson gave a party to a number of his young friends in honor of Washington's birthday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Wilson, 401 Santiago avenue, Miramar. WOMAN'S CLUB OF THE REDLANDS

Redlands, Feb. 24.—The president of the Woman's club of the Redlands called a board meeting for February 19. Plans for a baby week were discussed, and subscriptions taken and talked of for the Federation Magazine, it being the president's desire that every club member should take the same.

The monthly meeting of the club took place on Tuesday, Feb 20.

After the minutes were read and approved three new members were admitted—Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Amberson and Mrs. Holbrook—all of the Redlands Farm Life school. Plans were discussed for having two meetings a month—one for business and one for a program.

Plans were discussed for changing the by-laws so that the nomination and election of officers should take place on the same day. This met the approval of those present and it was voted that the board prepare the new by-laws and have it ready for the March meeting.

The Redlands Farm Life school gave a George Washington program Thursday, the grades having their exercises in the afternoon and high school in the evening. Small admission was charged and the young people netted about $15. The teachers are to be congratulated over the good work done.

ACKNOWLEDGES RECEIPT OF ARMENIAN FUNDS

Mrs. T. V. Moore, chairman of the committee for Armenian Relief, has received a letter from Mr. Charles Crane of New York, treasurer of the National Committee for Armenian and Syrian relief, gratefully acknowledging the sum of seven hundred and twelve dollars received by him from Miami. In regard to the disposal of these funds Mr. Crane said that because of the high freight rates it was impossible to send supplies so that the entire sum was sent intact to the American consul who saw to it that the money was distributed to the best channels.

Mrs. Moore is also sending the sum of eighty-five dollars and seventy cents received by her from private subscribers and expects that she will be able to send more later when other pledges are paid. She is glad to assure all those who have so generously contributed that every cent they give goes directly to the relief work.

BRICKELL HAMMOCK LOT AVAILABLE

One of These Magnificent Bay Fronts Can Now Be Obtained

The cream of bay fronts is in Brickell Hammock. They have jumped in price every year. Because of the limited number, beautiful outlook and full riparian rights, there will always be a big demand for them. We have the exclusive listing on one of these for a short time.

It is 100x480 feet with high bluff in front. It is partially cleared and planted to a variety of trees.

The price is $22,000. Owner has refused $20,000 twice this season for this tract. He has just decided to sell. The first party to come to us with a deposit will get it.

There is nothing in Brickell Hammock with the features of this tract which can be obtained at this price.

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particulary those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must ... that inside cleanliness is ... outside, be... absorb impur... blood, while ... of bowels

THE AVOCADO FLORIDA'S BIG MONEY-MAKER

Since the Trapp and Pollock varieties of avocadoes were established in Florida fifteen years ago, there has been a stronger demand for these two kinds of this delightful food and salad fruit than the groves have been able to supply.

The Trapp is a late fruit. It is sent to market from October till January, when prices are best. The Pollock is larger and trees are more vigorous. The shipping season is from July to October. It, too, is a big money-maker.

Plant Trees That Have Good Records Behind Them

We will have ready upward of 100,000 trees for spring and summer grove planting. Most of these are Trapps and Pollocks, budded with wood from performance record trees in Lucerne Nurseries, Polk Co.

These kinds are suitable for planting in the South Florida counties where avocadoes will grow. They will thrive in most of this section if given the soil and care that they need. Orders should be placed now for spring and summer delivery of trees. If you don't buy early, you may be unable to get what you want. Our avocado booklet will interest you. Send for free copy today.

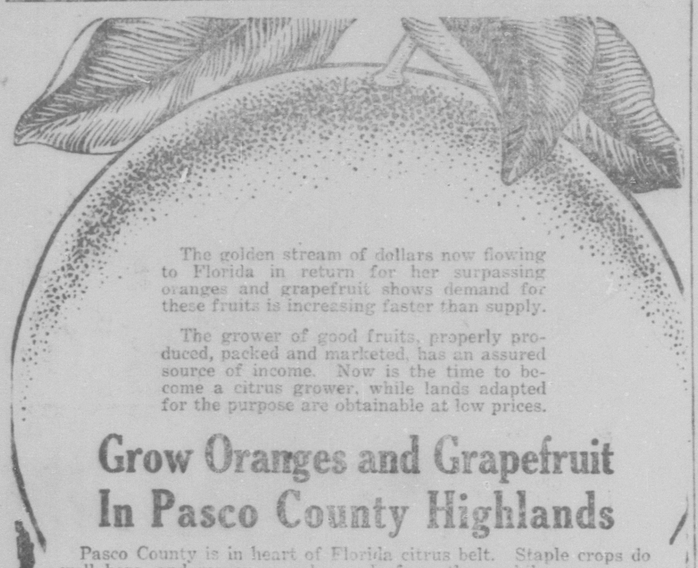
W. M. BURDINE'S SONS

The Shopping Center of Miami, Dade County and Southern Florida



The golden stream of dollars now flowing to Florida in return for her surpassing oranges and grapefruit shows demand for these fruits is increasing faster than supply.

The grower of good fruits, properly produced, packed and marketed, has an assured source of income. Now is the time to become a citrus grower, while lands adapted for the purpose are obtainable at low prices.

Grow Oranges and Grapefruit In Pasco County Highlands

Pasco County is in heart of Florida citrus belt. Staple crops do well here, and money may be made from them while groves are coming into bearing. Fine livestock country, ideal for dairying.

Farms, ready to cultivate, 40 acres and up, fenced and partly cleared, with new house, barn and well, fresh cow, pigs, chickens. Prices give buyers benefit of value increases they help create.

These farms prepared by business men of Dade City, county seat, to build up community; sold by Seaboard Railway to increase its tonnage. Railroad's crop experts help settlers succeed.

Visit Seaboard Ready Farms While in Florida This Winter

Florida is a great State. Every section has its advantages and properly is boosted by its people. Good land in any part of the State bought at fair prices will prove to be a profitable investment.

The Seaboard Air Line Railway serves the heart of Florida and is extending its lines and service in advance of the progress of the State, in line with its general policy of leading development.

The Seaboard reaches many desirable portions of this commonwealth of opportunity, but none of them excel the Pasco County Highlands, selected by the general development department as the center of its activities for this season, in recognition of the way in which the citizens of the community have shown their faith by their works—have made the expression of their boosting spirit a means whereby newcomers are assured success and happiness.

See the Pasco County Highlands and these ready-to-cultivate farms this winter—see them before all of them have been bought because of the wonderful investment values they offer. In coming years the Seaboard's development department will introduce Florida's visitors to other portions of the State well worth their while, but never will it be able to offer greater values than these.

The Nation Is Passing Through One of the Greatest Crises In Its History.

The man and woman who can keep a level head in times of excitement are the ones who are the nation's strongest protectors. They help shape the policy of the Nation and they help keep law and order where law and order should be kept.

And so we believe our nation is best served by everyone tending strictly to their own business. Avoid war discussion as much as possible so as to keep from getting into heated arguments, which are not necessary and which only help kindle bad feeling even among those who have the same opinion.

And please remember that our country is not going to "the dogs" even if it does go to war. Take, then, our advice in the sense and spirit in which it is given—attend to your business, exert your efforts and let us all pull together.

EDITORIAL SECTION

VOL. 7. NO. 84. MIAMI, FLORIDA, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1917. PRICE FIVE CENTS

ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS FOR SOUTHERN ROAD BUILDING IN 1917

(Special to The Herald.)

Baltimore, Feb. 24.—That the south has fully awakened to the economic value of modern highways and that it is literally afire with enthusiasm and determination to provide a network of good roads that will reach every corner of its domain, is strikingly set forth in the current issue of the Manufacturers Record, containing authoritative statements from every one of the sixteen southern and southwestern states. Ultra-conservative figures, based upon estimates contained in these statements, show that at least $100,000,000 will be provided for state and county road work during the present year, this not including the funds for Federal-aid roads. This amazing sum emphasizes much stronger than words how thoroughly aroused the whole south is upon the question of good roads.

Brief references to some of the features of work in each of the states of the south and southwest will emphasize how thoroughly the demand for good roads permeates every part of this section.

In Alabama it is estimated that $1,-162,000 will be available, in addition to at least $2,000,000 for exclusive county work.

rkansas has a three-mill road tax which provides about $1,500,000 per annum, but in addition, under the Alexander act, the Highway department has made surveys and furnished plans and specifications of 2,300 miles of roads of a permanent character at the estimated cost of $8,650,000, practically one-half of which has been constructed or is now in process of construction.

The people of Florida have been earnestly at work for several years past in building modern highways through every part of the state, and in recent years have spent approximately $17,000,000. The annual revenue for road work in the fifty-two counties of Florida is approximately $1,5000,000, and the counties of the state have still $2,600,000 of work to be constructed under existing contracts. Additional funds are continuously being provided through county bond issues.

In 1916 Georgia counties spent $5,-000,000 for roads and bridges and indications are that 1917 will witness very great activities for county-wide and intercounty bridge replacement and highway improvement.

In Kentucky 811 miles of roads were built in 1916 at an approximate cost of $2,500,000, while this year it is stated that contracts will be let for between 800 and 1,000 miles of road, constituting more road work than in any former year and involving an expenditure of at least $3,-000,000, possibly more.

Louisiana, which has encountered difficult problems in road building, has become the terminus of many interstate highways, and this has stimulated its people to the improvement of roads within the state. To connect New Orleans, the principal city with these highways $500,000 was spent on a 28-mile road leading to the highlands of Mississippi, and little doubt is expressed that the next state legislature will vote favorably upon a constitutional amendment appropriating $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 for building state highways.

Maryland, which is looked upon as a model in state highway development has to date expended $18,000,000 for state roads. During 1917 it will have available for this work a total of $5,-350,000. These state roads reach every corner of the state. They have been built of permanent materials, and represent a splendid example of the many desirable advantages and possibilities of centralized state work.

In Mississippi 1917 promises to be the banner year for good roads, and it is expected that over $3,000,000 will be expended. One county alone in this state has provided $900,000 in bonds to build concrete roads at an average cost of $10,000 per mile.

In Missouri there are approximately 200 special road districts in the different counties which have voted bonds, ranging from $25,000 to $100,-000. Some of the counties voting county-wide bond issues are St. Louis, $3,000,000; Jefferson, $500,000, and Clay, $1,250,000.

North Carolina has been one of the most active of the southern states in highway improvement. During 1916 $5,100,000 was spent for maintenance and new construction while in 1917 it is expected that at least $6,000,000 will be available for such work. In the report from this state a general tendency is shown to put in more durable materials than ever before.

In Oklahoma state road systems have been established and approved in all of the 77 counties, and county commissioners are concentrating their efforts on the construction of these roads in the order of their importance, thus giving a definite plan to secure the greatest possible benefits to all people of the state. number of county bond issues have been provided for hard-surfaced roads in Oklahoma. Fees collected from the registration of motor vehicles amount to $750,000 and of this $250,000 will be devoted to maintenance and $500,000 to new construction.

Road work in South Carolina has received decided impetus recently, and it is stated that quite a wave of public sentiment for better highways in many counties has appeared. South Carolina is expected to become very active in providing increased funds for better roads.

The counties throughout Tennessee have for some years shown unusual progressiveness in the improvement of their roads, and it is stated that 52 counties at this time have or are now constructing roads by bond issues totaling $18,000,000, with bond issues now pending and being expended during this year of $10,000,000, with special county appropriations of $1,000,-000 for roads and bridges.

Texas, with its enormous area and extensive road mileage, during the past year spent approximately 20,000,000 on road construction and maintenance, and it is stated that indications are that this amount will be at least doubled this year, making $40,000,000 as the amount Texas will spend for road work in 1917. Texas has 258 counties, and of these 203 are active in highway improvement.

In Virginia road work was carried on in 1916 in practically all the counties of the state, and a little over 715 miles of roads were built at a cost of $1,600,000 in addition to 67 bridges now under contract, costing $250,000, while during the past twelve months twelve counties have issued a total of $1,570,000 in bonds for road and bridge work. For 1917 it is estimated that total funds for road work will be $2,240,000 with $700,000 additional available for maintenance.

West Virginia, a typical mountain state, where road construction is difficult and expensive, has throughly awakened to the influence which construction of good roads will have upon the broadest development of the state's resources and since 1912 has voted a total of 13,280,000 for road work, while within the next month $2,525,000 in bonds will be voted upon. Last year bonds were voted to the extent of $7,678,500.

Federal Aid for Roads.

In addition to this work, however, many additional funds will be provided by each of the states to co-operate with the government in building roads under the Federal road act. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, the sixteen southern states will receive from the government $1,104,928, which, matched by an equal amount by the states, will make a total of nearly $3,500,000 for Federal-aid road work during this period. During the whole five-year period the southern states will receive over $25,500,000, which, with an equal amount they will have to provide, will mean that $50,-000,000 for Federal-aid roads alone will be expended in the southern states during the next five years.

One exceedingly gratifying feature of the various state reports is the rapidly growing tendency to place the supervision of highway construction in the hands of state highway departments. This is desirable, because it is only through such centralized authority that road work in any state can be placed upon its firmest foundation, assuring not only a higher grade of construction and systematic maintenance, but the planning of state roads along well-defined and comprehensive lines so that they will be of the greatest benefit to all the people. The establishment of state highway departments in those southern states heretofore without them has been somewhat stimulated by the Federal-aid road act, which requires the creation of such departments before Federal aid will be available.

SAFETY AND PREPAREDNESS

"We read a great deal these days as to national preparedness, and, if we believe all of the calamity howlers, we are on the broad road to perdition," writes William H. Cameron, general manager of the National Safety council, in an industrial publication.

"As a matter of fact, never before in the history of the world, has real preparedness taken such a hold upon a nation as has the preparedness idea of today. Not that I mean that thousands and hundreds of thousands of our young men are becoming experts with sixteen-inch guns, or daily becoming letter-perfect in the manual of arms, but I refer to 'preparedness' in a truer sense.

"A dozen years ago if you met a railroad man of lesser rank than that of the general manager, you instinctively glanced at his hands to count the remaining fingers, didn't you? Well, today it is different. If a train of one hundred cars could be run nine times around the world, it's an even chance that on the completion of the ninth trip, not one employe of the successive crews operating the train would have met with a fatal accident. Isn't that real preparedness?

"You could operate a trans-continental limited train between San Francisco and New York for a generation without a fatal injury to a passenger. In the last five years only one passenger was killed in a train accident each year out of every three hundred and fifty-million passengers carried one mile.

"Nor does the preparedness idea stop with the railroads, wonderful as has been the success of the idea on what was formerly ranked as the most dangerous of all our industries. The average number of tons of coal mined in the United States per fatal injury during the last forty years was one hundred and eighty thousand six hundred and seventy tons. Last year this

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts And the Campfire Girls

Educational work of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the Campfire Girls is described in the Annual report of the Commissioner of Education, department of the interior, just issued. In describing the educational phase of Boy Scout work, Mr. James E. West, chief scout executive, declares: "The Boy Scout movement aims to reinforce all of the agencies which make more for right living and character development in the youth of America. It does not seek to supersede the home, church, or school, but to supplement these institutions largely in the leisure time of the boy; and to impart by means of its own programs and exercises the virtues of chivalry, honor, and good citizenship. The character-building work of the movement is presented to boys in what is meant to be an "attractive wrapping." It is based largely on the method of learning by doing, in order that boys may be taught to be resourceful and self-reliant in all situations in which they may be placed.

"The movement is non-sectarian and non-political. Its program offers to the boy a well-rounded mental, physical and moral experience, largely out-of-doors, and calculated to develop a love of country, God, and neighbor. For its success the movement depends upon the voluntary leadership of men of high ideals, who serve as scout masters and scout commissioners. The educational aspect of the work is emphasized by the fact that of the 7,067 men who held commissions as scout masters on December 31 last, about 65 per cent are college men and over 80 per cent have either a high-school or a college education; 2,655 give their occupation as clergymen and 790 as public-school teachers; others are professional men, journalists, students, or engaged in mechanical or mercantile pursuits. In practically every one of the 350 chartered councils the public schools are definitely represented through the service of the school superintendent on the executive board, and in many cases the school superintendent serves as president of the council."

In describing the educational work of the Girl Scouts, Mr. Montague Gammon, the executive secretary, shows how the movement has grown in a wholesome and normal way from a small beginning in Savannah, Ga., in 1912 to a national organization with troops in 250 communities. He says: "The Girl Scout program, presenting all of its activities in group work, preeminently fills a distant need in the equipment of women for modern life. In its requirements for the three grades of scouting and for the proficiency badges the organization is emphasizing the home-making occupations and virtues. Nursing and first aid occupy a prominent place in the training."

"While the Girl Scouts organization is non-sectarian, it is distinctly religious. Each girl is expected to live up to the tenets of her particular church. She can not be a good scout unless she is faithful to her own religion."

Group teaching by mothers is one of the features of the work of the Campfire Girls, as described by Mrs. Cecelia Farwell in the Bureau's report. She points out how one mother who is especially good in making bread, will invite all the girls of a group to her home on Saturday and teach them how to make bread, while another, who excels in sewing, or some other form of home craft, will take them into her home for the next meeting. In speaking of the system of "honor" Mrs. Farwell declares:

"While mothers are encouraged to co-operate in the winning of honors, the honors are actually awarded in the council fire in the presence of the group. This is one of the secrets of the success of Campfire. Each girl knows how difficult it is to do simple home tasks which to an adult appear merely in the light of duty. The girl who "hates to wash dishes" appreciates the fact that the other girl who stands in her place and receives an honor bead for having "washed and wiped dishes and left the dining room in order after one meal a day for two months' has won her bead through real effort. The girl who receives the bead knows that her mates appreciate how hard it was to win it, and the bead has a very real value to her because of this fact. The honor is awarded not by an adult who feels that the girl has only done her duty, but by her mates, all of whom are in sympathy with her."

figure was reduced to one fatality to two hundred and twenty-eight thousand six hundred tons, and this, too, in spite of the great increase of non-English speaking men in the mining industry.

"The same spirit of preparedness has invaded building operations. With the advent of modern steel construction and the piling of story on story till the newspapers, for want of a better expression coined the sky-scraper phrase, safety of the workmen for a time became a by-word. Do you remember the banner of the structural iron workers in their Labor day parade: 'We don't die; we are killed!' Well, that doesn't hold good any longer. An iron worker has about the same chance to die from pneumonia, scarlet fever or other contagious disease these days, as he has from industrial accidents.

"In the industries we find intelligent preparedness legthening the life of the worker an average of nine years, in some of the more confing trades, to ten years in trades such as cigar making and printing, while in others where dust, poor sanitation and occupational hazard was the rule, rather than the exception, I believe twelve and fifteen years have been added to the life of the average worker.

"Preparedness has been the watchword in the shops and factories, in the mines, and on the railroads for a decade. For a time the employer was sadly put to it to convince his workmen that he should take heed of his very life. Day in and day out the fight against carelessness had to be waged. A trip through a shop would show a scrap of discarded rag carelessly tied around an injured finger, or maybe a 'chaw' of tobacco doing duty as an antiseptic. Today the bulletin board with its 'Take your scratched finger to the doctor' is the rule. 'Your eyes are the windows of your soul, wear your goggles; the company furnishes them without charge,' is posted in ten thousand shops.

"An accident in this shop is a serious reflection on the foreman in charge of the work, drives home to the man on the job that the management is in earnest. 'Be careful,' 'Think safety,' 'If safety interferes with production explain your troubles to the safety committee and your work will be made safe.' 'A box car can be rebuilt in thirty days, but it takes twenty-one years to make a man,' is the message of one railroad corporation to its men. These and a score of similar messages from employers to employes emphasizes the new order of things.

"The preparedness spirit is illustrated in a hundred ways. The wonderful growth of saving accounts in our banks, the added thousands of policy holders in insurance companies, the miles of cottages in our suburbs the increased attendance in our public schools, or, if you desire an illustration in every city block, the displays in the show windows of our stores.

"If you prefer," consider another phase of preparedness. Five people can swim today to one of a dozen years ago, every vacant lot is a baseball field in the summer months, the suburban sidewalks are roller rinks for our children, the churches and schools are used as part time gymnasiums, and field days and dancing classes are the rules rather than the exceptions.

"This country need not worry over preparedness. Our people are living a saner and more healthful and safer life than at any time in the history of our nation."

WHAT IS BACK OF MIAMI TO MAKE IT A BIG CITY IN THE NEXT 20 YEARS

The question is asked almost every hour by somebody—

"What is back of Miami to make it a big city?"

There are a number of things that will contribute to the growth and development of Miami, as has been shown in previous articles, but aside from the finest climate in the world, the superb location and the fact that over a hundred millionaires are now interested in Miami, financially, there is still a greater asset and one that has never failed to build a big city as its distributing point.

Miami has a surrounding country that is well adapted to agriculture and horticulture, covering five million acres of the most fertile land in the world and this great stretch of rich land is being rapidly placed under cultivation and made into immense stock ranches.

Take some of the great cities of the west, located in the heart of large farming districts and see to what extent they have grown and what wonderful distributing centres they have become.

Kansas City is a shining example of the wonderful growth of a city as the result of a great farming section. Throughout the great corn belt of Kansas and the big farming sections of Illinois and Missouri hundreds of smaller cities have been developed and these are all tributary to Kansas City, which is the distributing point for supplies to most of these cities and towns throughout that territory.

Already scores of towns are springing up in the territory within a hundred miles of Miami and in the next few years these towns and others will become good sized cities and they will all be supplied by Miami wholesale houses, when this city gets its deep water harbor.

When this vast acreage is under development, and it is firmly believed that the majority of it will be under cultivation within twenty years, Miami will have a hundred wholesale houses, supplying the cities and towns and the farmers and stock growers with supplies of all kinds. This will make tonnage for several big ships a week from New York, Baltimore and Boston and the products of this vast territory will fill the holds of these big ships on their return trips to the great consuming centres of the east and north.

If there are one hundred wholesale houses in Miami each will employ an average of fifty people, making 5,000 people interested in a line of business that is still in its infancy in this section. Figuring that most of these heads and employes would be heads of families this would mean a population of fifteen thousand at least, all interested in a business that is very small at the present time.

The retail trade coming from this vast territory will be something immense and will necessitate the increase of the present retail business to at least ten times its present capacity. To take care of this big retail business it will be necessary to employ an additional five thousand people and again assuming that many of these will be heads of families, this means another fifteen thousand added to the population.

To construct the building necessary to house this immense wholesale and retail trade and the thousands of homes necessary for the people to be employed in carying on this big business, at least five thousand more artisans will have to be employed and again assuming that most of these are heads of families this will mean another fifteen thousand added to the present population.

In the meantime the tourists and visitors continue to flock to Miami and the half million people who will be located in the smaller cities and towns in the adjacent territory when it is developed, will be spending more or less time in Miami, so the hotel and boarding house accommodations will have to be largely increased and to be conservative another three thousand people will be engaged in this little line of business, which will practically add five thousand to the population.

In these four lines alone it is shown that fifty thousand will be added to the population in twenty years and if there was nothing else this would make Miami have a population of 75,000 in 1937.

But half has not been told.

The tourist business is growing by leaps and bounds and winter homes are being built by hundreds and many of these so called tourists and winter visitors will become permanent residents with a possible summer trip north or west and from this source it is easily seen that another twenty-five thousand population can be added to Miami within twenty years, thus bringing it up to the 100,000 mark.

This is believed to be a very conservative estimate and many of the enthusiastic home people and visitors have expressed the belief that Miami will have a hundred thousand population within ten years.

As to Successful Farming.

Frequently northern people express skepticism on the question of the success of farming operations in this territory. A canvass of the twenty salesmen connected with the Tatum Bros. real estate business, elicites the information that many have questioned the success of farming in this section and on several occasions the assertion has been made that the Tatums have not even made a success of their own farming operations in Florida City, where they are largely interested.

B. B. Tatum, president of the company handling Florida City properties, was questioned upon this matter and said:

"Last year was the first time we undertook to raise anything ourselves and our efforts were rewarded in a manner that should be satisfactory to anybody. We marketed 24,000 crates of tomatoes from eighty acres and sold them at an average of $1.50 a crate f. o. b Florida City.

"This is $450 an acre and while this is probably the best yield ever made in Florida for so large a tract, it is not abnormal for the section around Florida City, which has been shown to be especially adapted to the raising of tomatoes, as well as several other vegetable crops.

"Right now we are cutting 200 hampers of lettuce to the acre and selling it here in Miami for $5 a hamper, making $1,000 an acre. We have a number of acres of cabbage that will run from 15 to 18 tons to the acre, that were not affected whatever by the recent cold, which we have been offered $90 a ton for, f. o. b. Florida City, and we believe we will get $100 a ton for it when we are ready to ship in a short time.

"There are about 150 acres of cabbage in fine condition at Florida City and this will bring the growers from $200,000 to a quarter of a million dollars this spring. If that isn't profitable farming then I don't know anything about profits."

It is estimated that there are about 1,500 acres planted to vegetables at Florida City and Homestead and that is only a small part of the farming operations in this vast section that will be able to feed the nation in the next few years.

Take an example right in Miami. Out near the Allapattah school Mr. and Mrs. Jurrens have made a phenomenal success of small farming and in less than ten years have made themselves independent. They bought five acres of rich land and it is said that they made six thousand dollars off it the first year. Not more than two months ago Mr. Jurrens informed the writer that he might sell his home place of five acres for $25,000 but not a cent less. He has five acres near by all under cultivation but without fruit trees, house, irrigation, etc, and for that he might accept $1,500 an acre. And still there are some people who will not be convinced that farming in this section is successful.

Future Valuations in City Property.

There are also some doubting Thomases on the legitimacy of the present valuations of city property and the prospects for healthy increases in the future.

Based on the growth of the city in the past twenty years and the increase in prices of all city property, the prices that will be quoted in twenty years will give any of these doubting Thomases heart failure.

A business property that is now quoted at $100,000 and was bought twenty years ago for less than $500—but the same ratio would hardly be fair and still it is very likely that the valuation of such a property in twenty years will reach close to a million dollars.

A residence corner in Riverside that sold for $600 much less than twenty years ago, is now worth $8,000 and in twenty years it will be worth $100,000.

NEWS FROM THE PAN AMERICAN

Florence Jenkinson was given her examination in typewriting last Wednesday afternoon, and passed it with an average speed of 43.6 net words per minute. Miss Jenkinson will write 125 words in shorthand next week, which is her graduation speed. At the present time she is working for Hall-Wright Company on Elevetnh street, in the forenoon and taking her speed work in school until after she passes her final examination in shorthand.

Walter Lloyd has entered the night class for Academic work.

Arthur Spruill, manager of the winning Sales Company in the recent Thrift Club contest, and later assisted Mr. Perry in establishing the College at Sanford, has just returned here from Sanford. He will now continue his stenographic course here.

Albert C. Saunders, 214 Sixth street, Miami, started a stenographic course in the night school.

Wallace Riley entered school this week to pursue a secretarial course. At present he is studying in the stenographic department.

Mr. M. J. Van Geldern, instructor of bookkeeping, arithmetic spelling and penmanship, here in this college, has been promoted to acting principal and manager of the new college in Sanford, Fla.

While we are very much pleased at the promotion and success of Mr. Van Gelderen, we greatly regret his departure from this school, as he was not only an excellent instructor, but also very generally liked.

Marjory Mowat has entered college for a short combined course.

Reports from the office show that the college received seven calls for help this week, and was able to fill only three of these.

Owing to the absence of one of the teachers in the bookkeeping department, Mr. Charles Perry has been transferred to that department and his classes in shorthand have been taken over by Miss Womeldorf.

Mildred Bivens promises to be an excellent stenographer, this being her second week in the transcription work in shorthand, and she receiving twenty-one O. K.'s; 8 checks; and one re-write, in a total of 30 letters dictated at the rate of 60 words per minute.

Mrs. Elise McGill having just secured a position with the Miami Fruit & Produce Co., started to work on Thursday of this week. We wish her all kinds of success, because she was a conscientious and diligent worker while in college.

Hazel Felkner has been asbent from school for the past few days on account of illness.

The many friends of Mr. Mills, who is now with the Standard Oil company in this city, are glad to know that he is taking a commercial course at the college at night.

We are proud of the work that is prepared for our exhibit at the Woman's Club Building, during the fair. The penmanship, bookkeeping, typewriting and correspondence work will be displayed to the best advantage: and one of our chief features is the demonstration of how we learn typewriting to the music of the Victrola. We think typewriting is a little tiresome and hard to do until we are put into the rhythm classes in the morning and afternoon. The music takes away all the work, and our fingers just follow those copies and our minds are so concentrated that we forget everything else for that period of time. Come and see our demonstration, every day next week between 10:30 and 11 a. m., and 3:30 to 4:00 p. m., and then look at the work we have on our booth. See whether you don't think we have been working, see whether that isn't work that we should delight in displaying.

Miss Helen Willson, of Pittsburgh, Pa., is visiting Miss udrey Perry, and is taking a course in shorthand and typewriting while here.

Frank Baldwin successfully passed his final examinations in bookkeeping this week.

Prof. A. H. Perry started a new class in commercial law this week, this making three different classes in this subject.

Miss Menadier has started commercial work in the night school.

Gains Of The Churches In 1916

The churches of the United States have not suffered financially from the European war and the increased cost of living, nor has their ordinary rate of growth been reduced the past year. They have given freely toward the millions of money sent to the war-afflicted populations of Europe and Asia, and yet maintained their own regular work, evangelistic, missionary, benevolent, and educational, with undiminished force. The Year Book of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America for 1917, edited by Dr. H. K. Carroll, gives full statistics, showing that the religious bodies, Catholic, Protestant and Eastern Orthodox, had in 1916 an aggregate of over 40,000,000 communicants or members, crossing the forty million mark by about 17,600. The net increase of the year was 747,600, or 204,000 more than the increase for 1915. In 1890 the total religious strength was 20,618,000, so that in twenty-six years following the net increase has been 19,299,000 or 94 per cent, while the gain in the population of the country for the same period has been about 39,000,000 or 61 per cent. The churches therefore gained faster than the population.

Of the gains in 1916, about 216,000 were of the Roman Catholic and some 500,000 of the Protestant bodies. Among the latter, 136,000 are credited to the Methodist, 132,000 to the Baptist, and upward of 79,000 to the Presbyterian and Reformed group. The Episcopal church had a gain of 27,000, and the Lutheran bodies of 20,000.

The thirty constituent bodies of the Federal Council report a total of 17,996,000 communicants, a gain in 1916 of about 254,000. Except for an extraordinary revision of the returns of the Disciples of Christ, causing an apparent loss of about 185,000, the gains of the churches comprising the Federal Council would have been much larger.

The gain in 1916 in number of churches was small, only 117. In the previous year, however, there was a net loss. The smallness of the increase this year is due to decreases reported by several denominations and denominational groups. The Disciples of Christ sustain an apparent loss of 769 caused by faulty method of counting in previous years; the Methodist Episcopal church loses 68, the Northern Baptist 33, the Northern Presbyterians 97, the Episcopalians 7. These and other losses reduce the considerable gains of the Roman Catholics 199, the United Brethren, 70, the Lutheran Synodical Conference, 105, etc. It is quite probable that churches, particularly in the rural regions, are being closed or merged for the sake of economy and efficiency.

The gain in ministers is 2,643, which is nearly double that of 1915. The largest gain, 478, is reported by the Roman Catholic church; the Baptists added 365, the Lutherans 159, and other bodies smaller numbers.

Dr. Carroll presents a new chapter, indicating the distribution of communicants and population of the chief world communions of Protestantism. The Anglican communion has an estimated population of 26,758,000 in the world, the Baptist of 21,000,000, the Congregationalist of 4,255,000, the Lutheran and Reformed of 30,800,000. It is shown that the prevailing estimates of the strength of Protestantism are far too low, and that nearly, if not quite 200,000,000 are Protestant members and adherents.

Returns for Sunday schools in the United States for 1916 show a much larger aggregate of Sunday school scholars than any previous report has given, and that the net increase in the last ten years is more than 6,300,000, with a gain of between 15,000 and 16,000 schools.

After tests of steel underframes on cars for several years an English railroad has returned to iron ones as less liable to corrosion.

WASHINGTON THE PACIFIST

I cannot recommend to your notice measures for the fulfilment of our duties to the rest of the world without again pressing upon you the necessity of placing ourselves in a condition of complete defence and of exacting from them the fulfilment of their duties toward us. The United States ought not to indulge a persuasion that, contrary to the order of human events, they will forever keep at a distance those painful appeals to arms, with which the history of every other nation abounds.

There is a rank due to the United States among nations, which will be withheld, if not absolutely lost, by the reputation of weakness. If we desire to avoid insult we must be able to repel it; if we desire to secure peace, one of the most powerful instruments of our rising prosperity, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war.—Washington's message to Congress, December 3, 1793.

MAY BECOME TRUE

"The states have no rights save those the federal congress gave them," declared Representative Crisp of Georgia in debate on the floor of the house of representatives, a few days ago.

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people," with equal emphasis declares the constitution of the United States.

Nothing could more clearly show the rapid degeneration of the idea of federated government, which the founders established, in the present day declarations, arguments and writings.

There is a very marked tendency, a tendency that amounts to a development, to undermine the very principles upon which the American government was founded, and every such an attempt is met with a growing wave of applause from the unthinking. Every attempt to stem the tide is met with derision.

Representative Crisp succeeded in congress his own father, who was long a member of the house and was for a time its speaker. That father was a staunch supporter of the principle that certain powers were retained by the states and by the people when the federal government was formed. These things the states have not surrendered, nor have the people every acquiesced in the usurpation of their rights.

The attack on the rights, rights held to be sacred and inviolable when the frame work of the government was erected, comes from just such men as the present Crisp, they originate in congress and are perpetuated in the courts, until, one by one the states are shorn of their rights the people are brought more clearly and certainly to subjection to a centralized government.

In part of this, the people, themselves, are responsible. It is becoming more and more the thing to apply to the federal government to do those things for the people which the states are slow to do, but the underlying influence that is degenerating the fiber of democracy is the constant tendency to regulate the private affairs of the individual by some authority, and when the state authority hesitates or works too slowly to suit, the federal government is appealed to rivet more closely the chains of regulation.

Until the people, themselves, see the dangers into which they are rapidly drifting, we may expect no relief from the constant attempts of congress and federal courts to limit the actions of states and of the people, and the time is surely coming that notwithstanding the prescriptions of the constitution, the statement of Representative Crisp may become absolutely true, that the states have no rights that congress is not willing to grant them.

SHOULD BE PREVENTED

Without any reference to the personnel of the state board of health or to the politics that may or may not control the appointments to the board when the terms of the present members expire, the people of this state should take into careful consideration the proposition that has been made to appoint an entirely new board which will select a new state health officer.

This is neither a plea nor an argument for the retention of Dr. Porter as the executive officer for the board, for it is probable that the doctor will be very willing to lay down the duties of an office in which he has worked for quite a quarter of a century, an office which he has filled with such singular ability and success that he has become a national character in his chosen field, and is considered an authority over the United States on matters connected with the public health. His retirement, under any circumstances, would be a great loss to this state and to the country.

In any selection of a successor to Dr. Porter and to the members of the board of health, the peculiar position of Florida ought to be carefully considered. Geographically, it is constantly exposed to all the epidemics that have their origin in the tropics to the south of us. Having commercial communication with the South and Central American countries we are continually in danger of the importation of the many contagious diseases that have their start there and which when they obtain a foothold in this country wreak death and disaster upon us.

It is only to suggest that if the ancient plague of yellow fever should even once, again sweep over this state, as it did up to less than twenty years ago, Florida in a business sense would not recover in a decade. If the bubonic plague were permitted to gain entrance to the state, the toll of death would be frightful to contemplate and that, too, would work irreparable injury to the state. Or if any other of the diseases to which we are subject should get beyond the control of the authorities, the disaster would be one that we could not repair in many years.

To maintain the good health of the state, under all the conditions to which we are exposed, requires scientific knowledge coupled with great ability, and the state of Florida can devoutly thank a watchful Providence that the state has had just such an official in Dr. Porter. We may in one season lose all that we have gained unless state health authorities are all men who have had experience, are full of the knowledge of their business and who are wise and quick to act.

The probability that the demands of politics will require a change in the personnel of the state board of health, and the extreme probability that any change will be for the worse, rather than the better, should give the people of this state pause, and The Herald is extremely glad to learn that the Tampa Civic Association has started a campaign to bring the facts clearly before the people.

The legislature at its next session should take such steps as will prevent any political move from imperilling the health and the reputation of Florida.

ONE EDITOR PEEVED

Some time ago the Florida Index, published at Lake City, made a profound protest against any proposition for the legislature to make provision for the drainage of the Everglades. In substance, its argument was that the people of the northern part of the state were not interested in the drainage; that there was plenty of waste land in Columbia and other northern counties to supply the demand, without the state's going to the great expenses of opening out still other large tracts; that the people of that section objected to the state's taking any interest in the development of lands in the southern part of the state, and more to the same effect.

And The Herald wondered why the Index should go to such extremes in announcing its view of a subject on which it was plainly ignorant, why it should go out of the way to oppose a project that would benefit the entire state in almost the same degree it would benefit the southern part.

Now comes a glimmer of light on the reason for the attitude of mind of the editor of the Index. He thought he was catering to a backward community and that he was voicing their sentiments. In a long editorial, he now complains of the people of the city in which the paper is published, that they have not met his attempts to boost the city and the section; that they do not sympathize with a man "who would stand for the right in everything;" and that they are "not willing to reward a man according to his works." In other words, the people of Lake City are not backing up the Index, and the editor is much peeved.

If he is as narrow minded in his attitude toward local improvements as he was toward the great state improvement of the Everglade project, there is probably a very good reason for his complaint.

AN ASININE PETITION

If those men who are said to be circulating a petition asking for an extra session of congress for the purpose of securing a referendum of the people as to the advisability of war, would take an elementary course in reading, they would discover how very futile their movement is, and they might, possibly, also learn that they are merely bringing Miami and her people into ridicule, if they persist so far as to get their petition before congress.

There are certain powers granted by the people to congress. Among those powers is the one to declare war. The constitution does not provide for any way for congress do delegate the power of decision to any person or any group of persones, even if that group should take in the whole people. The duty and the responsibility for war rests entirely with congress.

To petition against a plain provision of the constitution is merely to write down the petitioner as a plain, unqualified ass, and subjects the community from which he springs to the ridicule his petition so richly merits.

There is not a sane man in this country who wants war. What the people want and are attempting to do is to get into position to defend the country if war is forced upon us. A referendum, taken here, supposing such an absurdity were possible, would have not the slightest effect on peace or war, for those issues are to be settled outside of this country. The men in Berlin can determine whether war shall be. We cannot. We are for peace, but we may be forced into war and even if every voter in the country decided against it, we might yet be forced to defend our homes, our families and ourselves from the brutalities and the outrages that have been inflicted upon other countries.

We will know this week: whether President Wilson will ask for authority to use the army and navy to protect American citizens; whether there will be an extra session of congress; whether the American ships that sailed to pass through the "prohibited zone" are sunk; whether something can be done to relieve the car shortage, and whether the price of print paper may be reduced.

One difference between Great Britain and Germany is, that the Britisher won't let out a yell, even when his fingers are pinched.

Well, everybody having been exonerated in the leak investigation, congress is now at liberty to adjourn, as far as we are concerned.

Now they are quoting Washington as a pacifist. Yes, George was a pacifists, all right, but he had to have his scrap, first.

OBSERVATIONS

"I wonder if that fellow knows what he is driving at," mused the Oldest Inhabitant, as he watched a very busy many on the golf grounds.

If we could get an embargo on some of these pacifist speeches and editorials, we might more easy convince Germany that we mean business.

What has become of the old fashioned southern man who believed in state rights? He has a son in congress hard at work tearing 'em all down.

Aunt Maria told me 'at Uncle Silas found a new breakfast food 'at really tasted like sompin'.

All Miami will have to do is to "go before" the legislature, as Wilson does congress.

Some Satisfaction For Gerard.

One thing is undisputed—Ambassador Gerard beat the kaiser to Paris.—New York Herald.

I AM A PACIFIST.

Let nations for ideals fight; that does not interest me.
Let Europeans die upon the land or on the sea—
I do not care, I am not there; why should it trouble me?

I heard who 'twas began the fight, I think, but could not say;
The threats of one nation at war have filled me with dismay;
I long for even thoughts of strife to
hie me far away.

I hate to see that gaudy rag, our Nation's flag, about.
What "patriotism's" like I'm sure I can't at all make out;
No man with sense should hold his ground when danger is about.

Oh, let them slap our country's face
and sink our ships at sea,
And if the waves are red with blood,
I'm sure that's naught to me;
They're not my ships, 'tis not my blood—how could it interest me?

Oh, I shall bring all means to bear—
safe ones, you understand—
To keep the horrors of a war from coming to our land.
What do I care if many think them
mean and underhand?

I do not care what hist'ry says; my country's shame to me
Is naught to my safety. I hope now you can see
Just why pacific policy's so very dear to me.

CARUSO.

Enrico Caruso, the most famous singer of his day, is 43 years old today. Signor Caruso was born in Naples February 25, 1873, and began to sing in the churches of his native city at the age of eleven.

After several years of study he made his operatic debut in Naples in 1894, soon later toured Italy and quickly acquired a national reputation.

Some five or six years later he toured the capitals of Europe, and then began his world vogue, the phenomenal career of popularity and wealth which reads more like a fairy tale than fact.

He came to the United States for the first time in 1903, and quickly added the scalp of America to his belt of worshippers.

He has at present no rival as a tenor in the operatic field, and the sums paid him have exceeded the highest salary paid a singer in the history of opera, a contract made by him to sing next summer at Buenos Ayres calling for $200,000 for thirty performances, or $6,600 a night.

Signor Caruso is a member of the Metropolitan Opera company of New York, where he is now singing.

An Ohio inventor has patented a lawn sprinkling system employing pipes to be buried in the ground, provided with outlets at regular distances apart.

NATIONAL PRESS

Philadelphia Record.

It is hardly necessary for the president to apply to congress for specific authority to protect American rights. But the issue is a momentous one, and the president is not obliged to carry the whole responsibility. It is as much the duty of congress as it is of the president to defend lawful American commerce, to defend the rights of the nation on the sea as well as on the land. Furthermore, the action of the president would have more significance, both at home and abroad, if it were taken in obedience to the expressed will of congress. In spite of all the talk of persons who would have us oppose nothing that Germany may do, no matter how it affects us, we have not the least doubt about the position congress will take when it has to go on record.

New York World.

The senate rider to the postal appropriation bill forbidding the shipment of intoxicants into prohibition states, which was accepted yesterday by the house, is a measure calculated to challenge whatever of hypocrisy or privilege may be imbedded in our sumptuary laws. When, as in this case, avowed prohibitionists oppose an act as too stringent and men known to be unfavorable to all such legislation support it enthusiastically, we may believe that the question of compulsory total abstinence is approaching a final solution. Heretofore, as states have gone dry, the forehanded citizen could easily supply his personal needs from outside sources. Now that the supreme court has affirmed the right of congress under the commerce clause to forbid interstate traffic in liquor, the matter assumes a new phase. The law enacted yesterday, if approved by the president, will make every prohibition state a prohibition state indeed, and the bibulous first citizens will feel the drought as keenly as the humblest rounder. Of more interest than the hardships of these people will be the effect of this legislation upon states which have prohibition enactments in mind. They now know that when they outlaw intoxicants they deprive rich and poor alike. They close the clubs as well as the saloons, and the sideboard or cellar has no better standing than the blind tiger or the pocket-flask. The question is, Can prohibition itself stand the strain?

THE WAR.

February 25, 1915.

British and French warships attempted to force Dardanelles and reduce the four forts at the entrance.

1916.

Germans, with great expenditure of ammunition and terrific losses in men, advance on a twenty-mile front on both sides of the Meuse, east and west, in Verdun campaign and capture Fort Douaumont, one of the outlying fortifications of the stronghold, which is recaptured the same day by the French.

Russian army operating in Persia captures Kermanshah, defended by the Turks and Kurds.

THE SEA OF GLASS.

I (John) saw a sea of glass mingled with fire.—Rev. 15:2.

John saw a movement like the glow
of fire,
Mystically mingled with the glassy
sea.
Perfectly glassy, but with sunshine
free,
Warm, genial beams its heart retained
entire.
John saw the character, not one of ire,
But love and home-like geniality,
Inviting cheer. Such characters
may be
Growing celestial fruits, or a desire
Stir up in souls to see the Christ of God,
His kindly radiance by which he won
The hearts of outcasts, who, race
having run,
Are now at rest beneath Christ's holy
rod,
And feel at home in its communion
sweet.
We'll stay a little longer at his feet.

FROM THE EDUCATOR'S NOTE BOOK

The national $5,000 competition for the best code of children's morals, which has been in progress under the direction of the National Institution for Moral Instruction for Children, with headquarters at Washington, is to close this week with the anniversary of Washington's birth, Feb. 22. At this time seventy appointed code writers are to send in the codes which they have completed. It is estimated that more than 10,000 persons have helped in the work, the code writers having striven to find out what individuals think should be taught in personal conduct. The National Institution is planning to have an exhibit on character education in public schools, at the meeting of the department of superintendents of the National Education Association, to be held at Kansas City, Feb. 26 to March 3.

Dr. James L. Barton, foreign secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, is authority for the fact that Americans invested in Turkey more than $40,000,000 in educational, literary, medical, industrial and religious philanthropic enterprises. At the present time over $8,000,000 is represented in the plants and equipments of these various institutions. Among these are Syrian Protestant College at Beirut, Robert College and the Constantinople College for Girls at Constantinople, the International College at Smyrna, Euphrates College at Harpoot, Anatolia College at Marsovan, St. Paul's Institute at Tarsus, and many others, besides extensive hospitals at Aintab, Cesarea, Konia, Marsovan and other places. There are now some 200 American educators, physicians and other workers for social uplift, in charge of these institutions and their various activities. In the event of hostilities between the United States and the Central Powers, the continued welfare of those American residents of their ally Turkey, will become a matter of grave concern, and the splendid work already accomplished given an immense setback.

A campaign for equal pay for teachers of both sexes, similar to that which was successful in New York, is now under way in Boston, and the women teachers have submitted a bill to the Massachusetts legislature and asked the Boston school committee not only to support it, but to put the equal pay policy into effect even before the measure is passed. The women represent that there are hosts of business and small secretarial positions making less exhaustive demands than teaching which pay within a few years after beginning the service, salaries from $700 to $1,500 a year more than the ablest women in Boston schools are receiving. The modern Athens in consequence has lost some of its most efficient teachers to other cities, and is failing to attract into its teaching service many of the most promising young women graduating from its own schools and nearby colleges. In spite of the increased cost of living, the salary schedule for women has remained practically unchanged for twenty years. As to the thoughtless argument that "a man ought to get more because he supports a family," the Boston teachers marshal forth statistics showing that seventy-four per cent of them have others partially or wholly dependent upon them. The relatives supported by these women are in most cases elderly parents or invalid members of the family, from whom no help can be expected in the woman's own age and disability.

The annual gathering of the department of superintendence of the National Education Association, which opens next week in Kansas City, is in some ways the most important educational gathering of the year, as it calls out the greatest number of educational leaders, state and city superintendents, college professors and others whose names are known in educational circles beyond the sphere of their own activities. It calls out meetings of other important bodies such as the National Council of Education, the National Society for the Study of Education, the Society of College Teachers of Education, the Conference of Teachers of Education in State Universities, the National Conference of Deans of Women, the Educational Press Association of America, the American Home Economics Association, the National Council of Teachers of English, the School Garden Association of America, and so on. The meetings will extend over a week. Among the noted educators present will be U. S. Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, Robert J. Aley, president of the N. E. A.; State Commissioner John R. Finley of New York, and the Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus, president of the Armour Institute of Technology of Chicago and lecturer at the University of Chicago.

SIXTY FOURTH CONGRESS NOW NEARING ITS END

Washington, Feb. 24.—Overshadowed by the public interest in the international situation and also in some measure by the enthusiasm attending the final preparations for the inauguration, the sixty-fourth congress is quietly getting ready for the termination of its business one week from today.

Retiring members, some of whom have been in congress for a score or more of years, are already cleaning out their desks for the exodus from the capitol. During the past week or so many of the new senators and representatives, who are to come into office with the sixty-fifth congress, have come to Washington and dropped into the capitol to mingle with their future associates of the two houses, and to take mental stock of their environment and friends in the new congress.

Veteran members who failed of reelection last November, many of whom have been prominently identified with legislation in recent years, will be the recipient of farewell greetings and tokens of regard from their associates during the coming week. Some of the best known faces that will be missing in the senate chamber when the sixty-fifth congress is rapped to order will be those of Senator Kern, the democratic floor leader, who went down with the Indiana landslide; John D. Works of California, who is to be succeeded by Hiram Johnson; Nathan P. Bryan of Florida, who gives way to former Governor Park Trammell; the veteran Senator Clapp of Minnesota, who is to be replaced by Frank B. Kellogg, famed "trust-buster;" James . O'Gorman of New York, who declined to become a candidate for re-election; George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania, whose seat is to be filled by former secretary of state Philander Knox; George Sutherland of Utah, Luke Lea of Tennessee, and the veteran Clarence D. Clark of Wyoming, who ranks with Lodge of Massachusetts and Gallinger of New Hampshire in length of service. S. M. Sparkman, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee is another veteran to retire.

The changes in the membership of the house with the end of the present congress will be numerous, though not so notable as those in the upper branch.

A majority of the best known members of the present congress will be seen in their customary seats when the new body convenes.

These will include James R. Mann of Illinois, the present republican leader; Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, son-in-law of Colonel Roosevelt; Isaac R. Sherwood, also of Ohio, who will be the oldest member of the new congress in point of years, and "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the Danville sage of the long cigar and good stories. Speaker Champ Clark, Claude Kitchin and numerous others who have been influential in shaping the course of legislation in recent years will also be on hand for the new congress.

The Majesty of Armenia

By Isra el Zangwill.

"I saw all our women and my mother torn to pieces by the monsters who disputed for possession of them," says the old princess in Candido, "and I was left for dead amid a heap of corpses. For three hundred leagues around similar scenes were going on without any omission in the five prayers a day prescribed by Mahomet."

It is impossible in reading the evidence as to the treatment of the Armenians in the Ottoman empire not to be reminded of this and other episodes by which Voltaire strove to disconcert the optimism of his Pangloss episodes which however seemed to transcend the license of even satirical invention and to have no warrant in the actual facts of mediaeval history.

Alas, we now know that Voltaire's imagination fell below not exceeded the diabolism of human nature at these moments when maddened by war lust aggravated, let us charitably admit by war panic, it returns to that pre-historic animal nature through which the soul has slowly struggled.

From more than one area of the war zone, from Belgium, from Galicia, from Turkish Armenia the same story reaches us; the same saga of the wanderings of whole populations under the spur of massacre, rape, hunger. Little children fall like flies by the wayside and new children are born on the march. Mothers go mad. Girls throw themselves into the rivers. Men are killed and buried like dogs.

But Belgium has almost all the world for her friends and the faith in restoration goes before her exiles like a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night. Even the Jews of the pale, torn and tossed between the alternate victors begin to find organized help and behold some faint gleam of Zion upon the political horizon. On Ararat alone no ark can rest. For Armenia alone there is the cry without answer, Watchman what of the night?

'Only for a minority can there be political redemption, let us at least bring physical salvation to their agonizing remnant.

Sister nations I have been accustomed to think the Armenians and the Jew. Both hail from sisterlands of the cradle of civilization. Both come trailing clouds of glory from the purple days of Persia and Babylon. Both have bourne the shock of the ancient and mediaeval empires and of the militant migrations of their races and both hold to their original faith for if the one was the first preacher of Jehovah the other was the first nation to profess Jesus. And sisters too in sorrow, although exiled, scattered, persecuted, massacred.

Sisters forsooth yet not equal in suffering. Hitherto through the long centuries the crown of martyrdom has been pre-eminently Israels. And as day by day during this war of wars there came to me by dark letter or whisper the tale of her woes in the central war zone I said to myself surely the cup is full. Surely no people on earth has had such a measure of gall and vinegar to drain.

But I was mistaken. One people has suffered more. That people whose ancient realm held the legendary Eden has now for abiding place the pit of hell. I bow before this higher majesty of sorrow. I take the crown of thorns from Israel's head and I place it upon Armenia's.

ACTIVITY IN MOORE HAVEN BOAT LINES

There is a marked increase in the boat service to Moore Haven from all points, and they arrive there from all directions daily. It is but a few months since the only boat that passed the three-mile canal would be an occasional fishing boat, o rperchance a sportsman's boat, and today the docks at this new city are almost insufficient to care for the tonnage that calls there daily. There are three boat lines operating from West Palm Beach, two from Okeechobee City, two from Ft. Lauderdale, three from the west coast, as well as the freight service.

The mail service is now daily, leaving Moore Haven at 7 a. m., and arriving at 5:30 p. m., which schedule will remain in force until the arrival of the Atlantic Coast railway.

It is astonishing the number of people that are going over to the west coast via Moore Haven, and are being attracted with the wonderful progress taking place there. Another season will find the tourists going direct to Moore Haven by Pullman car via Atlantic Coast line, and thousands of people will locate in this new empire, for it is but in its infancy, not a year having transpired, as yet, since the first lot was sold, and today over six hundred people according to the postmaster's report, get mail there.

History is in the making at Moore Haven, and it is being made rapidly, and the satisfactory part of it all is that it is all based on a sane and sound basis—facts that are positive, and require only a visit there to have them proven to the entire satisfaction of the intending purchaser.

AUTHOR OF "HELEN'S BABIES."

New York, Feb. 24.—John Habberton, whose writings enjoyed wide popularity years ago, though almost unknown to the present generation of readers, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday anniversary today at his home at Westwood, N. J. Mr. Habberton is one of those authors whose one great success dimmed everything else they ever wrote. Forty years or more ago everybody laughed over "Helen's Babies." A quarter of a million copies of the book were sold before the popular interest in it began to subside. It was translated into several languages. Afterwards he did better work from a literary standpoint, but none of it enjoyed even a small measure of the popularity of his one celebrated book.

EXTEND GREETINGS TO HONUS WAGNER

Pittsburg, Feb. 24.—Honus Wagner of the Pittsburgh National league club is 43 years old today and the Hot Stove League, composed of local baseball fans has arranged for the customary birthday banquet in his honor.

Wagner has played professional baseball for twenty-two years—in major league for twenty years—and is still a great player. If he wishes to do so he can probably continue active in the game for several years more.

Besides having a wonderful engaging personality, Wagner has made a remarkable record He led the National league in batting eight times and holds the major league record of 17 years as a .300 batter, Dan Brouthers, with 14 years, being his nearest rival, while Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers, who has batted for .300 or better for 11 years, seems to be the only present-day player with a chance to equal this great performance.

In addition to being a phenomenal hitter, Wagner has been a wonderful performer of fielding stunts and a great base-runner. Taken all in all, he has had the most remarkable career in baseball of any player in the game today.

The veteran was born in Carnegie, Pa., and has always lived in this vicinity. He bats and throws right-handed, stands 5 feet 10 1-2 inches and weighs nearly 200 pounds. His first professional engagement was with the Steubenville, O., team in 1895.

TO KEEP ALIVE SUNDAY'S WORK

Boston, Mass., Feb. 24.—Aiming to keep the spirit of Billy Sunday marching on in Massachusetts, tomorrow has been designated as "Go to Church Sunday" all over the state. The purpose is to retain the public interest in religion aroused by Mr. Sunday's recent campaign in Boston. The Massachusetts Federation of churches is sponsor for the state-wide movement.

YANKS GET EARLY START.

New York, Feb. 24.—With a dozen battery men in his squad, Manager Bill Donovan of the New York American league club starts today for the training camp of the Yankees at Macon, Ga. Others are to join the party enroute and it is expected that all of the pitchers and catchers will report for practice at Macon Monday. Manager Donovan decided to get his pitchers in condition early because of the strenuous preliminary games arranged with the Boston Braves and the Brooklyn club. The other players on the Yankee team have been ordered to report at Macon by the end of next week.

FINANCIAL NEWS

Furnished The Herald Daily By Clement D. Cates & Co., Jacksonville and Miami

New York, Feb. 24.—Summary: Atlantic Gulf and West Indies steamship net earnings of consolidated companies for year ended December 31st 1916 were $8,210,100, an increase of $5,162,114 over 1915. This is equivalent to 49 7-10 on $15,000,000 common stock after allowing for full five per cent on the $15,000,000 stock. Wisconsin Central declared regular semi-annual preferred dividend 2% payable April 2 to stock record March 9. New York Transit company declared regular quarterly dividend 4% payable April 14 to stock record March 24. Dunns says partial relief from traffic congestion has bettered position of business through progress in many directions continues hindered by delays in transportation. President Franklin, of International Mercantile Marine insists that American liners must have guns or convoy before leaving this port.

Car Lots: Wheat 101; 22; 101; 266. Corn 350; 14; 350; 249. Oats 246; 79; 246; 216. Stock Yard Report: Hogs opened steady at yesterday's average; receipts 18,000 vs. 13,000 yast year; left over yesterday 4,600; top price 12.95; good heavy 12.85 @ 13.00.

Cotton: Weather: General rains fell throughout the Southeastern states yesterday and also in Louisianna and East Texas. The indications are for generally fair weather east of the Mississippi today except that rains will probably prevail this morning along the Atlantic coast. New York Exchange cotton statistics: Into sight 156,819 vs 232,782 last year and 401,176 in 1915; in sight for the season 10,755,833 vs 9,666,890 and 11,768,146. No session in Liverpool today. While no mention was made in Lloyd-George's speech yesterday in regard to raw cotton the importation of cotton hosiery, cotton lace and articles are prohibted. Manchester advices regarding textile trade unfavorable. Look for prices to work some lower but should we have a sharp sudden break would buy cotton for a turn.

Stocks: The English embargo on imports is bound to affect business here. It is beginning to affect railroads. The failure of two railroads to finance, one through stock and other through bonds, the New York Central and Southern Railway emphasizes the condition of this group. Lloyd-George's speech may have had some effect on the market yesterday. The best thing that can be said about stocks is that they are in strong hands comparatively few in Wall street and a good many short. Central Leather is earning at rate of 33%.

Provisions and Grain

New York, Feb. 24.—Cotton: Our exports have recently been decreasing. The entire future of cotton is involved in this one item. Should shipping continue as it is now, even moderate supplies will become burdensome. Commercial reports of business in this country very bullish. Every opinion on the market now must be based on shipping developments. Ettieson.

Contemplated use of British tonnage for food, munitions and necessities only is expected to increase outward movement of North American grains. The food situation abroad is exemplified in the action of the British government guaranteeing farmers the following prices for wheat: Present year $1.80 per bushel; following two years $1.65; three years thereafter $1.35. Minimum wage for farm laborers is fixed at an increase of 50 to 80 per cent over the rate now paid. However, the widespread agitation over prices and the scarcity of food overshadows every other item and has brought commitments of every nation to the extreme minimum.

Corn: Extreme prices for corn prevail at seaboard and throughout the east due to faulty distribution. At the same time, there must be merit in present values when viewed from the viewpoint of hog prices. As high as $12.20 is reported paid by feeders in Central Illinois. A slightly oversold position exists.

Oats: British government guarantees producers 92 cents per bushel for this year's crop, 75½ next two years and 57½ for following three years. Outward movement this grain better than others.

Eastern houses turned buyers of wheat. Wagner and Armour buying; crowd opposing any advance; trade small. Think rally due.

Corn: Crowd bearish but not selling much; no news worth mentioning.

Wheat: Wagner heavy buyer of wheat.

Grain: Wagner continues to buy wheat.

Grain: Wagner has been a heavy buyer of May and July. Armour also bought. Perry Price been good buyer. Market is all set for a good upturn.

Grain: Slaughter buying corn.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT—To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season, J. A. Gates & Son have a message: We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic. We purpose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, lot to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn. We can, we believe, by this method save the purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expeditiously and satisfactorily. We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south, are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000, and are on lower land, you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami, and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year? May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while cheap in price and most attractively located, to select now? May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us; and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses to sell or rent to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken. Dixie Highway Tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney busses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school churches, literary clubs fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community. J. A. Gates & Son, 235 Twelfth street. Telephone 316.

WHAT IS BACK OF MIAMI TO

because it will be in the business section then.

Residence lots that are selling in Riverside Heights now, in the restricted section for $1,000, with all improvements and conveniences and in the midst of modern homes and beautiful surroundings, with street car facilities and splendid paved streets and boulevards, will be worth ten thousand dollars if any of them are available at that time.

Preparing for the Future.

In view of these facts and with a knowledge of past performances here and elsewhere it behooves the people to exercise their foresight as well as their hindsight, and invest in some of the good things in Miami, among which one of the best is Riverside Heights, a fully developed residence section within ten blocks of the business centre, where many of the best citizens of Miami and many fine winter residents are building beautiful homes and where social life will reach its highest altitude in the next few years.

The Tatums have developed this magnificent suburb and their work here will stand as a monument of progress in the years to come when Miami is a big city and the world centre of attraction as the greatest city in the south, with the finest climate in Christendom.

HORSE SHOW OPENS IN HAVANA

Many of the foremost breeding establishments in the United States are represented and many well known Americans are here to attend the show. GENERAL FEDERATION MAGAZINE CAMPAIGN

In a recent letter from the circulation manager of the General Federation Magazine, attention is called to the special cash prize given to those sending in clubs of ten ($2.00), twenty ($5.00), fifty ($15.00) or one hundred ($35.00), between Feb. 1st and March 31st. This is open to everybody, and any member, wishing to make an every-member canvass of her club, can add materially to her pin-money, or can make a substantial donation to her club treasury, if she wishes. This offer appears in the February number of the magazine, and also the circular which was sent last week to each president of a federated club. In this circular it is stated that all subscriptions should be sent direct to Mr. Maxwell, circulation manager. In the letter referred to above, Mr. Maxwell states that the 25 per cent commission which is allowed to our Endowment Fund, can only be allowed on subscriptions sent through the press chairman of the Federation, the magazine's accredited representative, whose address is Mrs. H. S. Jenison, 1912 Ferry street, Jacksonville, Fla. Sending the subscription lists through the press chairman in no way interferes with the winning of the prizes, so it is earnestly hoped that those raising clubs will send them in through Mrs. Jenison.

Mr. Maxwell further states that of the fourteen states in the class with Florida, so far only North Dakota, South Dakota and Alabama appear to be notable rivals. It is good to stand fourth in the class, already.

To be eligible, however, each state must send in as many subscriptions as she has federated clubs. Florida has 138 federated clubs, and has sent in but thirty subscriptions, so far. Will not each federated club send in at least one subscription, for the club, that we may be counted an eligible, while the every-member canvass is being made?

Let the chairman hear from your club, what you are doing, that other clubs may be encouraged to take up this canvass. To be in the Sunday Federation page, all letters should reach Mrs. Jenison before the preceding Tuesday.

SOUTH JACKSONVILLE

We have made great efforts to build and furnish our clubhouse, and have accomplished the same with credit to our club and city. We have a debt of $1,000, which we hope to raise this year.

We observed clean-up week, with gratifying results.

Some of our chairmen have conducted splendid study meetings and many fine papers have been read.

We are conducting a free kindergarten, with the generous help of Mrs. W. W. Cummer, and have monthly mothers' meetings.

The chairman of the library committee, Mrs. G. Rhodes, is conducting a weekly story-hour in the clubhouse for the children, and has a fine attendance.

We have planted a baby tree in honor of a new arrival in the home of one of our members, and had the tree marked with a brass tag, Hoyt B. Broward.

The civic committee is active, and in the spring had many parkways graded, with the aid of the city and many generous citizens.

There was a community Christmas tree, with carols sung by school children.

In October our state president, Mrs. W. S. Jennings, dedicated our clubhouse. She was accompanied by several of the state chairmen.

ELIZABETH C. SWAIM,
President.

MRS. COWLES MAY COME

Clubwomen all over the state will be delighted to hear that there is a prospect of the General Federation president, Mrs. Josiah E. Cowles, being the house guest of our president, Mrs. W. S. Jennings, as well as the guest of the Federation, for the convention in Tampa, next November. Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. Cowles have been corresponding with this end in view since before the last convention, and in a letter received this week, Mrs. Cowles states that if an itinerary can be arranged for her to visit other southern states, and possibly Cuba, she will hope to be able to spare the time. Mrs. Sherman, the chairman of conservation of the federation at its last convention, was brought to the south by Florida and Mississippi, together.

Mrs. W. B. Young, treasurer of the General Federation, has also heard from Mrs. Cowles to the same effect, that she hopes to visit the convention next November.

CLUB NOTES

Florida Federation of Women's Clubs Year Book for 1916-1917.

The Florida Federation of Woman's Clubs' Year Book for 1916-1917 has just been issued, and is being sent out to all the Federated clubs, officers and chairmen of the Federation. It is being sent also to all the national officers and presidents of the other State Federations.

The book is a handsome one. It was printed by the E. O. Painter Printing Company of Deland, and furnishes a world of information. It contains all the reports delivered at the convention in Miami, and the dedication addresses of Royal Palm State Park, two pictures of the Park and the complete minutes of the convention, besides a directory which includes every club that is federated, with its officers. It also has a list of the state officers, chairmen and all committee members, and a list of all national officers and department chairmen.

It will be of special interest to those who see this book to know that it was practically issued by women. In the letter from the printing company the following information was sent to Mrs. W. S. Jennings, president of the Federation: "The typesetting of the Year Book was done by women linotype operators, the proof was read by women proofreaders, the imposing, that is making the matter into pages, was done by women, the die stamping of the cover was done by a woman operator, the binding work and folding were done by a woman operating the folding machine, and the sewing done by a woman operating a Smythe machine, the finishing was done by a woman under the direction of a master binder. These women are the most efficient and highest paid operators in our plant."

It is greatly desired that each club president and corresponding secretary who are the recipients of these books, furnished each club, will bear in mind that these books are to be

United States Tires Are Good Tires

Not merely a statement—a fact proved by the extraordinary steady sales increases of United States Tires, as well as proved by the corelative fact that last year's sales increases of United States Tires were far in excess of the corresponding sales increases of automobiles.

Furthermore, the motorist who insists on tires that give him the utmost in anti-skid service and low mileage cost insists always on United States Tires.

FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

always accessible to club members in the club room. It will be found to be of great assistance to the small clubs, to read the reports of the many department chairmen.

With the idea that many of the club women who attended the convention, and heard the addresses, would wish a copy of the present issue of the Federation Year Book, a hundred extra copies have been ordered. Those who wish these books should write at once to the corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. B. Minium, 1825 Walnut St., Jacksonville, and send thirty cents. Twenty-five cents for the book and five cents for postage. A limited number of these books were ordered especially for this purpose, as so many requests have been made for them.

The Federated Clubs of Orlando are taking part in a campaign to secure $100,000 for hospital purposes for that city.

The Quincy Club is especially busy with its new library venture, and has secured a room in the court house for same. The club women of Quincy are also beautifying their railroad station. Quincy club is one of the clubs making recent application for membership into the Federation.

The Official Bulletin No. 1 of the coming council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at New Orleans, has just been received. This council meeting is to convene from April 9th to 13th, in the French opera house. Official headquarters will be at the Grunewald hotel, and several other first-class hotels, within walking distance of the Grunewald and of the French opera house, are listed, with prices ranging from $1 per day for room without bath, to $4 per day for room for two, with private bath, European plan. Reservations should be made as speedily as possible.

ENDOWMENT FUND EDITION OF THE TAMPA DAILY TIMES

Clubs are especially asked to secure advertisements from their towns, and get good write-ups for same, and send all ads and write-ups with checks for space, as we are anxious to send copy to the printer as soon as possible. The Federation gets 50 per cent of this issue, and as the paper will be sold by all the clubs all over the state, it will offer an unusual opportunity for publicity which towns should not be slow to recognize the advantage of. This paper will be placed in the hands of many of the tourists, and if the advantages of a town are properly set forth in this edition, it will no doubt prove of benefit.

This paper will have splendid write-ups from all the officers, and chairmen of departments, as well as some write-ups from celebrated writers. The paper should be especially attractive to club women, as it will contain a great deal of information, bearing upon club work. The paper will have a splendid circulation as the paper will not be thrown away as is customary, for these write-ups will make it a paper well worth keeping. It will be a souvenir for our winter visitors.

Many of the clubs are taking ads for their towns themselves. We feel that a page in this paper would be worth as much as a half-dozen pages in another paper, on account of the high class character, that will make the paper one which the people will desire to keep, together with the fact that it will go into the best homes in the state.

Send all ads and write-ups with checks to Mrs. W. S. Jennings, 1845 Main St., Jacksonville. Also notify her of the number of papers your club will take to sell on Endowment Day.

FORT MYERS

The club commenced its session for 1916-1917 October 18th, and since that time has welcomed twelve new members, and three who formerly belonged to its ranks. Unfortunately, seven members have been lost by removal, one by death, and one has resigned. Mrs. George Owen was appointed recording secretary until the new year, and Mrs. Randall became treasurer. December 6th was principally occupied by business; reports from different officers were received, and the annual club report, given at the convention at Miami, was presented to the members. Responses to roll-call were items regarding important discoveries and inventions. December 13th, the club met by invitation at the home of Mrs. Wm. F. Gwynne, the chairman for the day, each member having the privilege of bringing a friend. The president, Mrs. Julia A. Hanson opened the meeting with the club prayer and responses to roll-call, consisted of each woman present naming the place of her birth. The curious fact was elicited that amongst the large number of members and guests present only four were natives of Florida and only two of the four (whose united ages amounted to five years) were born in Fort Myers. England Scotland and Canada all claimed representatives. The subject of the day being "Travel Study"—Mrs. Gwynne gave a vivid account of her "Trip to the Golden West," last year; and was followed by Mrs. E. T Shaw with "What I Saw at the Grand Canon of Arizona" The club song, and various instrumental music, varied the program; and a pleasant social hour, when refreshments were served, tended to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

December 20th, a large number assembled for the study of "Education," which was under the charge of Mrs. Olive E. Stout. The particular topics discussed, were "Longer School Year" and "Compulsory Attendance." So much interest was evinced, and the subjects felt to be of such vital importance, that by request, the next program for Club Day was postponed, that consideration might be given to other topics on the "Education" program. Mrs. Stout, Mrs. Carter Paige and Miss M. M. Gardner talked earnestly upon the "Longer School Year;" and Mrs. Menendez Johnson advocated the mother being the child's first teacher, as much time is lost when a child enters school, if not taught previously how to study, and becoming acquainted with the spelling of simple words, figures, etc.

MRS. JULIA A.. HANSON,
President.
MRS. EDGAR HOWELL,
Corresponding Secretary.

SANFORD

Four years ago the Sanford Woman's Club was organized through the consolidation of four other clubs, the Wednesday Club, the Music Club, the Lend-a-Hand, and the West Side Improvement Association. Soon after its organization, it was federated.

The clubhouse and lot was bought in 1914, the lot costing $1,200. The former Presbyterian church building was for sale and removal, and the Woman's Club and Library Association joined hands in the deal. The membership was divided into six teams, each pledged to raise $100 on the clubhouse debt. The music department has the honor of being the first to cancel the obligation, with the other departments working on theirs. The music department also paid $200 on the $500 concert grand piano owned by the club.

There is an active Junior Civic League, under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Wight, its organizer.

The present enrollment of the club is 165 members.

Contributes annually to Domestic Science scholarship in Woman's College at Tallahassee, and to Royal Palm State Park this year was pledged $25, $15 on cemetery improvements, and an earnest effort being made to secure good road to cemetery, through the county commissioners.

Sanford Woman's Club is the mother of state-wide bill for medical inspection in public schools; active in equipment of cutlery, linen, silver, china and bedding for county home; active in anti-tuberculosis campaign; selling Red Cross seals annually in this cause; active in relief work for poor of Sanford; boxes of clothing and toys sent to children war sufferers, 1915; semi-annual clean-up campaigns; many civic improvements made, especially in parks, streets, alleys, parkways and home grounds; four better babies contests, three baby parades; influenced attendance at County Fair of forty children from Methodist Orphanage, including dinner served to them by ladies of Methodist church, two years ago; responsible for "bill-board bill" which will be before next legislature; adopted resolutions endorsing Industrial School for Girls, peace convention, and against social drinking. Cooperates in maintenance of rest room, and giving of community Christmas tree, and cared for fifteen families at Christmas.

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

Catcher "Tub" Spencer, who made a grand come-back last year, is to backstop for the Detroit Tigers again this season.

Fritz Maisel and Joe Gedeon are to fight it out for the second base job with the New York Yankees this spring.

A West Virginia league is being discussed, the circuit to comprise Wheeling, Huntington, Parkersburg, Fairmont and Clarksburg.

Cleveland report has it that Wambsganss is to play short for the Indians and that Chapman is to be shifted to another position on the team.

Joseph J. Lannin, who sold the Boston Red Sox sometime ago, is now trying to dispose of his Buffalo International league club.

Being in need of a first baseman, Owner Comiskey of the White Sox is willing to trade one of his first-string pitchers for a guardian of the first corner.

Catcher "Rowdy" Elliott of the Cubs has bought a 40-acre prune orchard in California and may retire from the game and give entire attention to his new purchase.

President Hermann of the Cincinnati club has notified the war department of his willingness to turn over the Reds' ball park for drilling purposes.

The Pittsburgh Pirates will leave for their training camp at Columbus, Ga., March 10. Three weeks will be spent in the Georgia city before the team begins exhibition games.

George Stovall, who is to manage the Vernon Pacific Coast league team, expects to land some of the Cubs' surplus talent before the Chicagoans return home from California.

It looks as if John Ganzel, the new Kansas City manager, has outplayed the other American association pilots in the matter of signing up major league talent.

Few if any of the major league clubs will pay the expenses of unsigned players to the training camp. The hold-outs will have to sign up or pay their own expenses.

Manager Connie Mack says there is no truth in the report that McInnes, Strunk, Bush and Schang are to be traded. According to Connie the quartet of star pastimers will surely be with the Athletics this season.

Heinie Busch, a well known minor league manager who has piloted teams in the Virginia league and Carolina circuit with notable success for several years, has retired from the game to engage in the insurance business in Cincinnati.

Jimmy Smyth, a Brooklyn rookie, is a hold-out. Jimmy bases his demand for more salary on his record for heavy hitting in the International league last season, but Boss Ebbets wants to see what kind of hitting Smyth can produce in the National league before boosting the player's salary.

Germans Rely On These Two For Salvation

GEN VON HINDENBURG GEN VON LUDENDORFF

On these two mighty men the Germans, and in fact the Austrians, Turks and Bulgarians, rely for salvation. They are responsible for the break with the United States. General von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff, the one chief of the general staff and the other chief of staff, were taken to Berlin from the eastern front, and today von Hindenburg has become a greater hero in Germany than the kaiser. Von Ludendorff is hardly less popular.

ANONYMOUS RELIEF GIFTS

Armenian Commission Receives Several Generous Subscriptions

One anonymous contribution of $20,000 received this week by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief makes a total of $63,000 given anonymously, by one individual whose name is not known even to members of the committee.

Another individual deeply interested in the work has given anonymously at different times $95,000. Other anonymous gifts received since the committee began in October, 1915, brings the total to approximately $200,000 of money from persons whose names by request are withheld from the records, and are known only in the treasurer's office.

A young bride recently sent $100 saved by reducing the cost of her trousseau.

Another lady has given more than half of her income of $350 per annum.

Schools and seminaries, realizing that people are dying for lack of food have sent gifts resulting from the reduction of the cost of annual banquets.

More than $1,000 has come from a missionary in Korea while missionaries or misson schools have sent generous offerings from South America, China, Japan, The Philippines, Hawaii, India, Porto Rico, India and South Africa. The Nez Perces and Crowfoot Indians have sent their gifts.

Superanuated Ministers (one 82 years of age) from their meager allowances send contributions "For relief of those whose sufferings pass our comprehension."

Others have given watches, rings, bits of old jewelry and family heirlooms that the hungry may be fed and life saved.

Scores and hundreds of innocent, helpless, women and children in Bible lands are dying every day of starvation and diseases brought on by lack of the simplest necessities of life.

A message received this week from Damascus reports that 50 wagons are required to carry the dead from the streets but the number is much more than they can handle and thus many are left, helping to spread disease.

A new horror has been added to an already over-flowing cup of woe—hydrophobia—as many as ten dying daily from this one cause and sometimes more, in Damascus alone.

Suicide is on the increase, resulting from despair and inability to obtain a crust of bread to satisfy hunger.

A Million People in Bible Lands Dependent Upon Relief.

Substantial as have been certain anonymous and other gifts, the resources at the command of the committee are utterly inadequate to feed the multitude. Witness the fact that allowances from the committee to the various relief camps, are on the basis of only ten Piasters equivalent in normal times to 40 cents per month, per capita.

When one remembers that in Turkey no goyernment allowance or subsidy such as other countries grant to their dependents, is available and that flour and other food stuffs are many times more expensive than here, the pitiful inadequacy of an appropriation of one and a half cents per capita per day is evident. Yet thousands of orphans and helpless women who have not yet gotten on the relief lists are deprived of even this assistance.

All money sent to the treasurer, Mr. Charles R. Crane, No. 70 Fifth Avenue, New York, is cabled as promptly as possible to the United States Embassy, and through consuls, misionaries and other responsible agents distributed to the various relief camps, without any charge whatever for salary or expense of the distributing agents.

CLUB CATCHER VALUABLE AS SHIP RUDDER

This Fact Realized By the Giants For the Season Ahead

(Jack Veiock.)

New York, Feb. 24.—Figuring that a catcher is just as important to a ball club as a rudder is to a ship, a glance at the roster of the Giants for 1917 indicates that McGraw is better fixed in the way of catching talent than any of his rivals, for in Bill Rariden and Lew McCarty he has two of the best receivers in the game.

No club in either major league can produce a brace of windpaddists who are better than these two sturdy knights of the mask and pad, and the best part of it is that neither can be styled as a veteran in point of years, for both are twenty-eight years old.

Slanting at the Giants as a pennant possibility in the National League, one cannot help but figure that if the Giants do capture the 1917 championship, Rariden and McCarty will come in for a big share of the credit.

Rariden is a nerveless catcher. He never gets excited under fire and he can cover more ground back of the plate and on either side of it than any other performer in the business, with the possible exception of Ray Schalk, of the White Sox. As a hitter, Rariden isn't a world beater, but in all other duties which a catcher must perform Rariden is there like a duckling.

McCarty is a great fielding catcher and a smart catcher "in there behind the sticks." During the season of 1916 he was not charged with a passed ball, according to the best informed statisticians, and his work in handling the pitchers was all that could be asked of any first-class receiver.

Although Rariden is not the batter McCarty is, he is conceded to be a tough customer for any pitcher to face in a pinch, for he knows how to wait 'em out, and his hits are generally sharp drives that can be counted on to score any reasonably fast runner from the keystone sack. McCarty's drives have more force, and it is McGraw's belief that Lew's batting ability will improve.

In pegging to the bases both Rariden and McCarty are steady and accurate. It is seldom that a wild peg escapes either of these lads, and they peg to second "on the runner" with such regularity that it is generally up to whoever takes the throw to complete a "made to order" play.

In Rariden the Giants have the hardest-working catcher in the game. Rariden likes nothing better than to be in there working every day. He hates to sit on the bench and watch someone else on the job, for he is chockful of energy and he loves baseball despite the hard work that he must do behind the plate.

McCarty, with a winning team around him, is expected to show up to better advantage this year than ever before. True, the Dodgers were winners last year, and Lew had every inspiration to make him play at top speed. The fact that he was going good for the Dodgers caught McGraw's eye and helped Lew to his present berth.

After Bill Rariden jumped the Braves to join the ranks of the Federal League he was a mighty repentant backstopper. For did not those Braves step right out and cop the National League pennant and also a world's championship? They did! And Bill wasn't with them. Bill jumped because of a difference of about $300 in the salary offered him and the salary he demanded, but he could have shared much more than that had he stuck. So now that Bill is back in the fold again he is glad to be there, and so long as he can hold down a big league berth the Giants, or any club he happens to be working for, will get the very best he has in him.

If the Giants cop the Tener gonfalon this fall, wait and see what part of the credit will go to Rariden and McCarty. It is a certainty that they will get a full share of it, and then some.

George C. Rice, one of Chicago's best posted baseball writers, recently printed a yarn to the effect that Charley Weeghman is tiring of his job as president of the Cubs and would like to "get out from under."

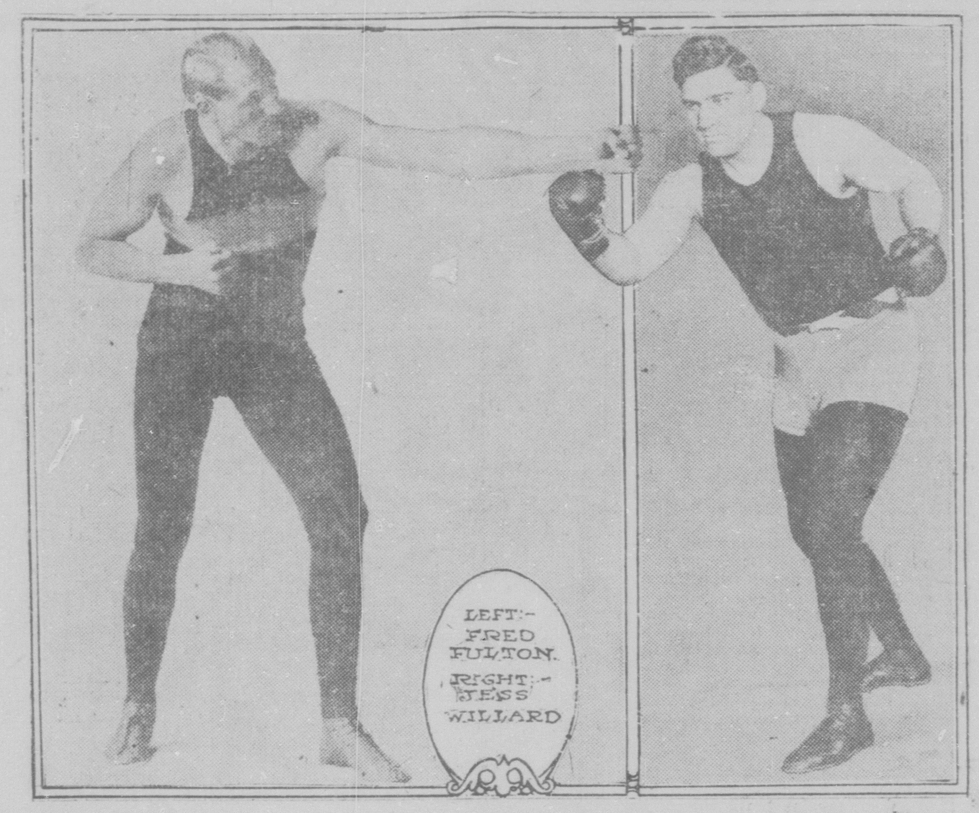
No doubt Rice has printed the "dope" correctly, and when one stops to consider Weegham's position no one can blame him if he should be getting weary of the responsibilities that are loaded on his shoulders.

Unfortunately for Weegham, he got into the baseball business in troublesome times. As a Federal Leaguer he was up against a losing proposition from the jump, and as president of the Cubs he found it necessary to find a manager who would satisfy the fans of Chicago.

During the winter, baseball magnates have had some very serious problems to thrash out, and, all in all, Weegham's experiences have been anything but exhilarating. Rice says that Weegham would step down and out if he could do so gracefully. But as no path seems to be open for him he will buckle into his tasks as president of the Cubs with an iron-bound determination to give Chicago a winner.

This is just the kind of stuff that baseball must have, and today there is not a more likable fellow in the big leagues than Charley Weegham. That he will eventually come out to the good is the belief of all who know him, yet no one who is acquainted with the ins and outs of the game in the lean years could blame him for a step down and out if he saw a graceful chance.

FULTON AND WILLARD



Above are Fred Fulton and Jess Willard, two fighters who will meet soon in a fistic encounter that should go down in ring history. Both men are powerful in frame and fairly quick. Willard, being champion, is naturally the favorite, but Fulton has shown such a remarkable burst of speed and force that it is not impossible he will land the champion for the full count.

Contrary to the general impression Fred Fulton is more than a one-armed fighter. Although he uses his left with terrible effect, he is just as handy with his short jabs and right hooks to the jaw.

In the fight with Weinert, Fulton displayed more steam than even his closest followers knew he possessed and even the two rounds of the fight showed that the westerner is a battling demon.

SPORT NOTES BY RINGSIDE

Interest Centering On Les Darcy, Al McCoy and Mike Gibbons

(By Ringside.)

Chicago, Feb. 24.—With no matches of any very great interest scheduled for the coming week, interest naturally is turning upon Les Darcy, the Australian; Al McCoy and Mike Gibbons.

Gibbons dropped in on Darcy in the course of the latter's recent theatrical engagement here and after giving him the double "O" suddenly developed eagerness to engage him in combat—at a characteristic Gibbons price.

Darcy made a splendid impression here. Incidentally, he revealed one fact in connection with his record which has not been dilated upon to any great extent by the scribes. That is the truly remarkable percentage of knockouts which dot his fistic accomplishments. Out of thirty-four contests, a majority of them with men of undoubted class, Darcy has put away twenty-one, a percentage of .611, as they put it in baseball. This means he has hung the sleep producing punch on six out of every ten men he has met.

The prevailing opinion among those competent to judge, is that in a short contest Gibbons would be able to give Darcy a nifty lesson in the art of boxing. Whether the phantom could evade those long arms and that terrific punch of the Australian over a longer route is debatable.

Gibbons told Darcy the other day why he claims the middleweight crown over Al McCoy. Those who have awarded it to McCoy do so on the presumption that Billy Papke, then the most logical contender, inherited the title when Stanley Ketchel died. Frank Klaus trimmed Papke in Paris and Klaus later was beaten by George Chip, who was bested by McCoy. At best McCoy's claim has been shady.

Gibbons declares that the Papke-Klaus affair was not at the stpulated middleweight poundage and that, even granting Papke held the title, the weight prevented it from passing from him. Gibbons admits there is no technically legal champion, but declares he has a right to be considered such because he has beaten every title claimant except Darcy.

There is no doubt Gibbons is a marvel in the ring and is in a class by himself. The possible exceptions are Darcy and Tommy Gibbons, the phantom's brother, who makes him extend himself whenever they get together in training bouts.

Knockout Brown, the Greek, and the only American boxer who has had any kind of success in battles with Darcy, is keenly critical of the latter's appearance.

"He doesn't seem so rugged or hearty," said Brown. "When I fought him he was trained to the minute and the muscles stood out over his body like a bunch of oranges. He looks rather sleek now. His present condition probably is due to the irregularity of living on the road, riding so many trains and being uncertain about his bedtime."

"Brown's right," said Darcy. "I really need a lot of hard work before I meet McCoy, and I am going to get it."

Apparently there is no worry in the Darcy camp. Here is an example: Darcy had been taking a bath while Mick Hawkins, his trainer, was lounging on a bed, entertaining callers. Somebody began rushing around, looking for Darcy's bathrobe.

"Aw, let him get it himself," yelled Hawkins. "Or let him put on his overcoat. He's no delicate baby or a nervous woman to be coddled like you fellows do in this country. He's a man. Let him help himself."

Which was just what Darcy grinned and did.

Freddie Welsh got another little shove toward retirement when the Wisconsin Athletic Commission barred him the other day because of his poor efforts in a recent encounter. Freddie is doing a great deal toward retiring himself, and whether he keeps his word about quitting of his own volition next summer, another year probably will see him an ex-champion, anyhow.

Welsh has not put up a really good fight in many months. He seems burned up by the intensive training of the past. He doesn't hop into the ring with the pep and eagerness which one characterized his actions. He showed plainly at Colorado Springs, when he was making ready for Charlie White, that he no longer can train as he once did. Welsh seems to be paying the penalty for his past devotion to training.

There are any number of good boys who ought to be able to take his measure if they can get him into a long contest, and the first one who gets the chance is likely to be the next champion.

Pat More, the Memphis bantam who holds a decision over Pete Herman, the new champion in that division, is going to travel ten rounds with Kid Williams, former champion, at Memphis tomorrow night. It should be a hot affair. Williams is essaying a campaign which will compel Herman to fight him again and the same ambition is back of Moore's scraps nowadays. Each is confident he can beat Herman. Moore thinks he has the title holder's measure. Williams believes he was robbed of his title. Each stands in the way of the other.

The same night another bantamweight scrap that will attract attention will be staged in Baltimore between Johnny Coulon, ex-bantamweight champion, and Steve Flessner, a promising boy. Coulon's showing tomorrow night may determine whether he still is to be regarded seriously in the ranks where he once reigned. Flessner is staking a great deal. He is a fast, hard hitting youngster, and is piloted by Sam Harris, who managed Kid Williams to a championship, only to be cast adrift. Sam is not in the habit of hooking up with dead ones, wherefore it behooves the fans to keep an eye on this Flessner boy.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA

ALL ALUMNI TO AID UNITED STATES IF NECESSARY

The male alumni of colleges and universities throughout the United States are planning to organize as an aid to the nation in getting an army together in the event war should be declared.

A convention to establish the organization and settle every detail in connection with it will be held soon in Washington, D. C., one man from the alumni of each university in America being delegated by his university to attend as the representative of the other graduates of the institution. Mr. A. Hadley Taylor, engineering, class of '09, has been appointed as the University of Florida delegate. Mr. Taylor is in the Bureau of Standards at Washington.

The plan, as outlined, is to form an intelligence bureau, which will catalog every college alumnus in the country, probably, among other details, as to age, profession and the course taken in college. With such data organized, the government would be able, if war should be declared, to place, very easily and quickly, a greater number of men in the positions of service which are most suited to the men available. Moreover, this proposed organization will be an excellent institution for civil as well as military purposes.

Interstate Debate

Arrangements have recently been completed for a triangular debate between teams of the University of Tennessee, the University of South Carolina and the University of Florida. Each institution will furnish two debating teams. The contests will be held on the same date which has been fixed for April 21st, 1917.

The teams representing the University of Tennessee and the University of South Carolina will debate on the above mentioned date at Gainesville, Florida. The teams representing the University of Florida and the University of Tennessee will debate at Columbia, South Carolina, and the teams representing the University of Florida and the University of South Carolina will debate at Knoxville, Tennessee.

The various departments at the university are taking great interest in this debate, and already debating has begun among the different societies to select the teams to represent the University of Florida. The first preliminary debates are scheduled to occur February 22nd and 23rd. The men scheduled to speak on the former date are: Affirmative, W. N. Burford, L. S. Anderson, C. S. Ogilvie, S. M. Clarkson, L. J. Stadler. Negative, W. L. Tervin, B. W. Barkwell, V. D. Mudge, F. O. Spain, E. B. Hampton. On the latter date, the following men will speak: Affirmative, F. W. Clonts, J. F. Coates, P. D. Huff, L. G. Morper, A. E. Hamm. Negative, O. P. Huff, S. Stein, L. A. Gray, L. C. Crofton, J. N. Watkins.

Large Increases In Registration

According to the latest report of the registrar to the board of control, the enrollment of the university shows an increase of one hundred and ninety-five students over the number enrolled in the same period last year.

Teachers' College

The Faculty Club of Teachers' college met Tuesday evening. Papers were presented by Mr. Nixon and by Mr. Overstreet. Mr. Nixon's paper was entitled, "The Advisability of Adopting the Six-three-three Plan in Florida." Mr. Overstreet's subject was, "Unconscious Factors in Education."

Professor O. C. Ault will go to Brooksville to judge the debate between the Brooksville and Ocala High schools.

Doctor James M. Farr and Doctor N. L. Sims go to Williston next Tuesday morning to address the Chautauqua at that place.

Doctor Harvey W. Cox, dean of Teachers' college, left Thursday evening for Pensacola where he held a two days' County Teachers' institute.

The College of Law.

An article by Dean Harry R. Trusler appears in the January issue of the American School Board Journal. This article is entitled, "The Authority of Teachers," and considers from a legal standpoint the nature of the teacher's authority; the right to enforce discipline; the right to inflict punishment; the corporal punishment of girls; the limits of permissible punishment, and adults in the school.

The members of the senior class have finished their practice court cases in common law pleading, under the direction of Professor Clifford W. Crandall and are now at work upon cases in equity pleading, under the supervision of Dean Trusler. Instruction and experience in appealing a case in equity to the supreme court also will form a part of this work.

Dr. Walter L. Summers, of the legal faculty, last week addressed the political science class of the Woman's club of Jacksonville upon the subject of contracts. In the near future, Doctor Summers again will lecture to the club women of Jacksonville, showing the relation of the law of contracts to married women.

College of Engineering

The regular meeting of the Benton Engineering society was held on Monday, February 12th. Arrangements were made for participating in the intercollegiate debate. The following were selected to take part in a trial debate to be held Monday, February 19.

W. H. Whitfield, J. T. Clark, R. Crosby, C. Patrick, Herbert Ford. R. T. Hargrave, E. B. Casler and E. F. Hurlebaus. From among these two men will be selected to represent the society in the intercollegiate debate.

Two moving picture shows have been given recently, which were of especial interest to engineering students. January 31 the National Tube company exhibited their pictures "From Ore to Finished Product," showing the process of manufacturing steel pipe. February 13 the Willys-Knight Overland company gave an exhibit of their films, showing the operation of the Knight motor. Both exhibits were largely attended by students from the engineering college.

Meeting of Agricultural Club.

The Agricultural club held an unusually interesting meeting last Monday night. Mr. Burson gave a paper on "The Phosphate Industry in Florida, and Mr. Thomas gave a paper on The Use of Fertilizers. Mr. H. Will Nelson gave a lecture on The Training and Exhibiting of Poultry. The poultry lecture was illustrated with a number of birds owned by Mr. Nelson and other poultry breeders of Gainesville.

Meeting of the General Faculty

The general faculty of the university held its mid-year session on Saturday afternoon in the faculty room, received reports from the various committees and disposed of routine business matters.

The committee on admission recommended more liberal facilities for the admission of special adult students who desire to take a limited number of studies in the university.

The publication committee reported that the new catalog had been sent to the printers.

The library committee reported many additions to the library.

The committee on athletics reported a big football season and excellent prospects for baseball and other athletic activities during the remainder of the year.

The next meeting of the general faculty will occur about commencement time.

Experiment Station Notes

Director P. H. Rolfs spent Monday in Tallahassee where the board of control was in session.

J. D. Willis, of Williston, was a visitor at the station one day last week. He came to arrange for a speaker at the Chautauqua, which will be held this week at Williston.

B. F. Floyd has returned from the Pinellas peninsula where he spent some time among citrus growers.

H. E. Stevens was in East Lakeland and Wiersdale two days last week looking after some citrus experiment plots.

The experiment station has issued another bulletin on the care of citrus trees that were damaged by the freezing temperature. This was made necessary by the repeated calls for information by caretakers of citrus groves.

C. K. McQuarrie spent Tuesday at Inverness where he attended a farmers' meeting.

H. S. McLendon and G. L. Herrington were in West Florida last week, meeting farmers and county agents and giving instruction in planning the summer's work.

A. P. Spencer spent the first of the week at Kissimmee.

In response to many inquiries, the station has advised growers not to ship frosted fruit to northern markets. It is not likely that the shippers will get enough for the fruit to pay the freight on the shipment.

State Plant Board

Mr. Wilmon Newell, plant commissioner, attended the monthly meeting of the state plant board at Tallahassee on the 12th instant.

Mr. F. M. O'Byrne, nursery inspector, returned February 12th from an extended trip down the east coast. He reports that the cocoanuts, avocado trees and mangos, as well as other sub-tropical plants in the vicinity of Miami were severely damaged by the recent freeze. Very little damage has been done near Palm Beach and throughout south Dade county. Pineapples all along the east coast were severely damaged as were also citrus trees in the northern part of Brevard county and the eastern half of Volusia county.

Mr. C. D. Dixon, plant board inspector, spent several days at the university.

News has been received of the marriage of Mr. Nieland, inspector of the state plant board.

Mr. J. C. Goodwin, chief clerk, will deliver, before the Florida Entomological society, a paper on "The Cane Borer."

Mrs. Pearle Kelly, of Nashville, Tenn., has accepted a position as stenographer with the plant board.

Mr. A. B. Carothers has returned to his home in Starkeville, Miss., for a short vacation. He will resume his duties as assistant inspector in the nursery department of the state plant board on March 1st.

Mr. L. L. Kirkpatrick represented the nursery department of the state plant board at Tampa during the South Florida fair.

Locals

Mr. H. G. Clayton, who received his master's degree from the State university last year and held a position on the staff of the agricultural experiment station, was greeting his many friends at the University last week. Mr. Clayton arrived in Gainesville Thursday evening from Chicago and visited friends on the campus until Wednesday afternoon, when he left for Ocala.

Mr. Yick K. Wong, a graduate of the college of agriculture, visited the university last week.

The A. T. O. fraternity held a house warming Wednesday evening at their beautiful new home near the university campus.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The Young Men's Christian association of the University of Florida is making rapid strides forward along all lines. Under the leadership of Mr. H. Will Nelson, general secretary, the University of Florida is doing fine work along all association lines.

Mr. Nelson came to us last fall from the A. & M. college of Mississippi, where he had been Y. M. C. A. secretary for three years. He is a man of high moral and religious character, versatile, and well trained along all lines of association work, as well as in all other phases of student activities. He is an all-round athlete and has been able to give very beneficial aid to athletics. His training and scholarship are of the best. For several years he was a worker in the Y. M. C. A. at Norwich, Conn. For a number of years he was chairman of religious work, doing the work of a secretary in the Y. M. C. A. at Lowell, Mass. He was professor in the textile school at Lowell for four years. For three years he served as professor and director of the textile school in the Mississippi A. & M. college, and taught for two years in the Blue Ridge conference. In every town and city where he has been located, he has been a worker with the young people, both in the societies and in the Sunday schools. Since his arrival here, he has interested a number of young men in the Mission Sunday schools of Gainesville. Not only has Mr. Nelson had training in the educational and association world, but also in the business world, having been superintendent of the Luce mills at Fall, N. C., for two and one-half years, and, for one year special agent for the federal tariff board. Mr. Nelson is thoroughly equipped to handle all the problems that may come up in the Y. M. C. A. work at the university. His success so far is ample evidence that he is well placed. All the activities of the association are in first-class condition. The attendance at the Sunday afternoon meetings runs from 100 to 150 and the attendance at the regular Wednesday evening Y. M. C. A. prayer meeting equals about half that number. In Bible study there is a good, strong class which is growing continually. The Y. M. C. A. rooms, under his wise and versatile supervision, are becoming more and more the headquarters for the students on the campus. Mr. Nelson is offering a course in students' standard of action, and a large number of young men are taking this course. His influence is being felt throughout the student body and the Y. M. C. A. is destined to become one of the dominant forces on the university campus.

The association has been favored with some helpful addresses, at their recent Sunday afternoon meetings, by different members of the faculty. Two weeks ago Professor O. C. Ault lectured to the members. Last Sunday Major W. L. Floyd spoke from the lessons of the life of Caleb and Joshua.

The Bible study class in manhood of Master still keeps up the large attendance; in fact the attendance is increasing.

John Marshall Society.

The John Marshall Debating society of the college of law met Saturday morning in the Moot court room for one of the most enthusiastic and interesting meetings that have been held this year.

C. H. Lichliter, who spoke on the topic, "The Law Library and Its Needs," set forth some instructive facts regarding the law library of the university, and suggested that the outgoing law class establish the precedent of donating to the library a set of books as a token of the regard in which the members of the class hold their alma mater.

J. Y. Marr spoke on the subject, "Attendance at John Marshall," and presented in a most convincing manner the importance of regular attendance by every member at each meeting of the society.

The subject for debate was, "Resolved, that congress should require all male immigrants entering the United States to submit to a literacy test." The affirmative was represented by Messrs. Hamm and Hampton. Messrs. Davis and Rihord upheld the negative. Each speaker set forth clear-cut, convincing arguments. Much spirit marked the whole discussion. The judges rendered their decision in favor of the affirmative and the question debated was then vigorously argued pro and con in a general discussion in which every member present had the opportunity to participate.

At the next meeting of the society, on Saturday, February 24, the question, "Resolved that the law school of the University of Florida should be co-educational," will be debated. Messrs. Mahon, Dopson and Rouse will represent the affirmative. Messrs. Beggs, Bailey and Stroud will speak on the negative side. A vigorous discussion is anticipated. At this meeting, Donn Trusler will address the society.

Agricultural Club to Have Barn Warming.

A lively entertainment is promised soon to the members of the agricultural club and their guests. After the February tests are over the club is going to give a barn warming, a real old-fashioned barn warming. The committee is promising several novel and entertaining features that are new to entertainments on the campus.

Experiment Station Notes.

H. S. McLendon, district agent, spent last week in Orlando at the county fair and also in St. Johns county with farmers who are becoming greatly interested in dairying.

C. E. Jenkins, district agent, and G. L. Herrington, Boys' club agent, held farmers' institutes in Liberty and Jackson counties last week.

Dr. A. H. Logan, in charge of hog cholera eradication for the state of Florida, spent the week in south Florida vaccinating hogs and giving demonstrations. He will visit east coast points this week.

The regular monthly conference of workers in the experiment station in the college of agriculture, and in the extension division was held Monday. The subject before the meeting was "Team Work in the Various Divisions of the University." The program included papers by T. R. Rolfs, A. P. Spencer and C. I. Willoughby.

Director P. H. Rolfs attended a meeting of the executive committee of the State Horticultural society in Jacksonville Wednesday. From Jacksonville he went to south Florida, visiting county agents along the route, to investigate damage done by the recent cold weather.

Marion county farmers who are interested in cotton growing will meet at Reddick on March 10. C. E. McQuarrie, M. S. McLendon and C. E. Jenkins will attend the meeting.

C. K. McQuarrie spoke to chautauqua audiences at Williston and High Springs Tuesday, opening the agricultural program at both places.

Institutes will be held in Orange county beginning March 5. A. P. Spencer and H. S. McLendon of the extension division will attend the farmers' meetings.

Florida's Farm Factories Run all the Time They Never Close on Account of Weather

If you had to close your business four months in the year, your overhead and fixed charges would go on, increasing production costs to the point where they would be prohibitive.

One reason why Florida can produce beef and pork cheaper than the North is because the plants—the farms—can be run the year round. You can raise several crops in a year—corn, velvet beans and other forage, and you do not need to feed against cold.

Armours KNEW this, they did not GUESS it when they located a packing house in Jacksonville. The United States government authorities fully realized it when they said: "There is no section of the country which can produce cattle more cheaply than the South, for the lands are still cheap, the grazing is good, the pasture season is long, feed can be produced at minimum cost, and inexpensive shelter only is required for the animals during the winter months."

The biggest agricultural development going on in this country today is in Florida. It is safe and profitable today, tomorrow and for the future, because founded on economic conditions that are fixed and unalterable and which forever will give this State notable advantages over other sections.

The Agricultural Securities Company has a SERVICE DEPARTMENT composed of experts in the raising of cattle and hogs. We look after the interest of our customers BEFORE financing a proposition, and as long as our customers have a dollar invested.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Princess Der Ling, a brilliant Chinese noblewoman and a lady in waiting to the late dowager empress, is at present on a visit to the United States ,devoted chiefly to the study of merican social and educational customs. The princess has been a pioneer in the advancement of woman in the acnient and tradition-bound country of her birth, and is an author. She has written, in a book entitled "Two years in the Forbidden City," valuable impressions of Chinese imperial life, so difficult of access for common mortals in the old days of the empire. She was educated in Paris while her father was Chinese minister to France, and has all the culture of the western woman in addition to the daintiness and picturesqueness of the eastern.

Delia G. McGrimley of Boston, recently sued Miss Sarah T. Hill of the same city, to recover 2 a day for 5,995 days' worth of farm work which she says she did for the defendant at her farm in East Foxboro, less the $90 which she says she has been paid, the only sum received by her for work performed from May 4, to October 15, 1910. Miss McGrimley testified that she attended cows, fed chickens, cooked meals, kept house and did farm hand work for those 5,995 days; that sometimes the cows got out of the pasture late at night and she had to chase them long distances, and now she says $11,000 is due her, plus $3,450 interest.

Miss Winifred Holt of New York City, founder of the New York Association for the Blind, who has been in England and France almost continuously since the outbreak of the war and has done such notable work for the blind soldiers there, is in the United States on a short visit in the interest of her work. Already more than 600 soldiers blinded in the war —many of them minus an arm or a leg as well—have been cared for, nursed back to health and courage, and transformed into industrious, self-supporting and hopeful men again at the institution in Paris, called the Lighthouse, conducted by Miss Holt for the relief of the war blind. The aim of the work is to re-educate the men, with the handicap of blindness upon them, in some line of work they may be able to do in spite of it. During her sojourn in America, the work of the ighthouse is in the hands of Miss Esther Cleveland, daughter of the late president, and of Miss Bernardette Grant, grand-daughter of President Grant, who have been for many months Miss Holt's most valued helpers.

Melle. Helene Dutrieu, the famous French Laviatrix, who has been in the United States before, recently arrived in America on a business tour and delared upon her landing at New York that she would offer her service to the United States government should the country go to war with Germany. She said that in this manner she might be able to express, to some extent, the gratitude France feels toward the United States for America's splendid aid during the war. It is interesting to recall that Miss Ruth aw, America's pluckiest woman aviator, is now observing aviation work with the French army on the western front, and has also expressed her willingness to serve the sister republic should her services be acceptable.

Alice Hanson Luce, whose name is prominent in the list of Americans in Berlin who plans to remain in the German apital, has been one of the leaders of the American colosy there since 1904, when she arrived to take charge of a well known school for American girls. Miss Luce is a native of Maine and a graduate of Wellesley College. After teaching in the Girls' Latin school, Boston, she went to Germany for study and won her degree of Ph. D. magnâ cum laude, at the University of Heidelberg in 1896. From 1893 to 1895 she had studied at the University of Leipsig. eturning to the United States she was for a year a member of the faculty of Smith College. She successively taught at Wellesley and at Oberlin, being dean of the woman's college and professor of English literature at the latter colloge. Her notable success there attracted the attention of the authorities of the Berlin school, and she was called to act as a guide for merican girls temporarily or permanently resident in Berlin.

Through the president general of the organization, Mrs. Cordelia Powell Odenheimer, the Daughters of the Confederacy have tendered President Wilson the support and services of 100,000 women members, in whatever manner they may be available should war result from the present crisis.

Mrs. Reynolds T. Hall, wife of Rear Admiral Hall of Washington, has been re-elected president of the Society of Naval Sponsors, a unique organization composed of women having officiated at the christening of Uncle Sam's warships and broken the traditional bottle of champagne over the doughty dreadnaught's nose. Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the secretary of the navy, is vice-president, and Miss Edith Benham, social secretary to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Charlotte Passmore of Minneapolis, who has successfully operated a truck farm near that city for the last three years, doing most of the work on the ten-acre tract herself, even delivering her produce in person, has sold her farm to become head of the agricultural department of Carson College, a school for orphan girls at Philadelphia. Carson College, for whose endowment several millions were left by Richard Carson, multimillionaire philanthropist, is to be the scene of radical innovations in the methods of bringing up orphan girls. Miss Elsa Ueland, its superintendent, also formerly of Minneapolis, plans to have no men on the faculty of the college, provided women can be obtained for all the places. Miss Passmore, graduate of an eastern college, gave up social life in Minneapolis to become the county's first girl farmer.

A three-day council of suffragists from all parts of the country, members of the executive board of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, will open tomorrow, Feb. 23, in Washington, to formulate plans to use the organization for war service. t is the first time in the history of the association that the 2,000,000 women belonging to it have been given the opportunity to render service to the country, and the call for concerted and patriotic action in the present crisis is meeting with the greatest enthusiasm. The call was issued by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president, whose action has been commended by suffrage leaders throughout the union. The conference will end by a mass meeting Feb. 25, when one of the speakers will be Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, honorary president of the association, who in spite of her 70 years, celebrated the 14th of this month, will make the special trip from Florida, where she has been passing the winter, to be present.

Fanny Garrison illard (Mrs. Henry Villard), chairman of the Emergency Peace Federation, whose representatives are now in Washington, trying to influence the administration's policy toward Germany, is a daughter of William Lloyd Garrison, the noted abolitionist. She became the wife of Henry Villard not long after he first arrived in the United States from Germany, to begin what proved to be a long career as a fiancier and philanthropist. She is the mother of Oswald Garrison Villard, the well known journalist. Mrs. Villard has long been active in the interest of the negro, also in the cause of woman suffrage and has given freely of financial indorsement and personal service in many "Forward" movements.

For the first tim ein the nation's history the wife of its chief executive will be by his side when he takes the oath of office at the impressive inaugural ceremonies of arch 5. On that Monday morning Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will not only ride with the president from the white house to the capitol, but she will stand only a few feet from him when he takes the oath of office on an improvised stand that will be erected in the eastrn corner of the capitol plaza. Thus Mrs. Wilson will establish an even more noteworthy precedent that Mrs. Taft did eight years ago, when she caused almost endless comment, by riding down Pennsylvania avenue with President Taft and by going as far as the door of the senate chamber where the ceremonies were held. While Mrs. Taft could not go on t othe floor of the senate and stand beside her husband while he took the oath of office, Mrs. Wilson can and will be near the president as he replies to the oath which will be administered by the chief justice of the United States.

AMUSEMENTS

All plays and vaudeville features will be changed nightly during their engagement in this city and the theatre goers will have an opportunity of witnessing a repertoire of plays that are seldom seen under canvas. Mr. Boyd Harrington who was leading man of the popular stock company in Mobile, Ala., will be seen in the principal roles supported by Miss Ruby Davis, Miss Eloise Summers, Miss Gussie Addison, Mr. Adrian Ellsworth, Joe Livingston, Ed Mills and Carl Dickinson.

The big tent theatre will be located on the lot on Twelfth street near the F. E. C. railway. One lady admitted free Monday night when accompanied by anyone with a paid ticket.

Thomas H. Ince's "Civilization."

"Civilization," direct from the Criterion Theatre, New York City, where it is still playing to capacity audiences, will be the attraction at the Paramount theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

The success of this great spectacle is a matter of common knowledge among those who read. Even New York's blase critics were not prepared for such a gigantic argument as that presented by Thomas H. Ince in "Civilization," and so it was that their reviews of his masterpiece, waxed eloquent, and he was acclaimed the master producer of his time. In addition to producing "Civilization." Mr. Ince saw to it that every detail of the presentation was perfect before the public was allowed a glimpse of it. This fact accounts for the instantaneous recognition by dramatic writers of the personality destined to dominate the field of the new art—the silent drama. The cast assembled to enact the many scenes required in "Civilization," consists of Herschel Mayall, Miss Lola May, Howard Hickman, Miss Enid Markey, George Fisher, J. Frank Burke, Chas. K. French, J. Barney Sherry, Jerome Storm and Miss Ethel Ullman.

Today at the Paramount.

Mary Livingston is a woman with a problem. Starting life as all innocent eastern girls, she is betrayed by the man she loves and left alone with her child to fight out the question of life by herself.

That is the character which Gladys Brockwell portrays in her newest photoplay for William Fox, "One Touch of Sin." today's feature at the Paramount. To add the doubts and problems which beset Mary, she is forced into a marriage with another man, Watt Tabor, (Willard Louis) because he takes the blame for a crime which she herself committed.

Then she meets again the man who had first wronged her. Richard Mallaby (Jack Standing) demands that Tabor give up the woman and a long series of fights between the two men begins. In the end, Mary is left to decide for herself. She goes with Mallaby.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

By-Mrs. N.M.G.Prange, Dept Mgr.
Wilson & Toomer Fertz. Co.
Jacksonville, Fla.

Bad Effects of Liming.

Kindly send information about conditions where liming gives bad results.

Answer: There have been a few instances where lime was applied on extremely thin, sandy land and by increasing the nitrification caused an exhaustion of humus matter below the minimum necessary to sustain bacterial life, thus making the soil inert and barren, limiting even the growth of a cover crop without applications of stable manure. These instances are not warnings against the use of lime, but are proofs of the great need of building up the humus content of thin soils.

Irish Potato Blight.

Is the Irish potato blight carried on the seed?

Answer: Yes, but no matter how free from blight your seed may be the disease is so established here that an unsprayed field is almost sure to be attacked. It is only a question of favorable weather conditions.

Holding Bloom?

When should I apply nitrate of soda to hold the bloom?

Answer: The growers who use nitrate of soda for holding bloom generally apply it at the very first opening or really a little before the general blooming of the trees. Such application must be made with care; if you put on too much nitrate of soda you may throw the bloom instead of holding it. Our idea for holding bloom is a good substantial fall application of complete fertilizer to build up the vitality of the tree. We always count the fall application the real foundation for the following crop.

Bordeaux Mixture.

What is the difference, if any, between Bordeaux mixture paste and Bordeaux mixture powder?

Answer: Bordeaux mixture powder gives just 40 percent effectiveness as compared with Bordeaux mixture paste in the Irish potato field for the control of blight. It is, however, entirely effective in the control of less resistant fungous diseases that occur in the tomato field.

Pruning After Cold.

Just how long before I should prune my trees damaged by cold?

Answer: We can not give you definite time for doing this work. You can not tell just how far back the dead wood goes until after growth is well under way; you must not prune during growing season; and you should prune just as soon as the growth is matured for dead wood in the grove is unsanitary. It is a harbor for the fungus causing melanose and stem end rot so serious in a bearing grove and allows the entrance of the worm that so often causes great loss in young groves by eating the pith out thus killing the tree way back.

Spraying.

You kindly advised me as to a schedule of spraying. Now the cold has come and killed so many insects and disease germs, shall I need to spray at all?

Answer: It is true that in the dropping of leaves many insects will starve to death but dead and weakened plant tissues induces the development of many disease germs and while the reason can not be shown as truly as in the case of diseases, practical experience has proved that insects are always worse after a severe shock to the tree. You will probably have to spray more than usual rather than less.

Proprietary Sprays.

I note you never advise ready mixed sprays and though I can see your reason, I am so situated that I want something my man can just mix up for both insects and diseases. What would you recommend?

Answer: Pyro is undoubtedly the best proprietary mixture for your purpose though as you understand we recommend straight Bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead paste mixed in the proportions the situation requires.

Quarrie spent a day at the county fair at Orlando last week.

R. B. Minium and V. H. Mehnecke of Armour & Company, were at the university Friday to make formal presentation of two pure-bred Shorthorn cattle to the experiment station, and to discuss with Director Rolfe and Professor J. M. Scott questions relating to the development of the livestock industry in the state.

State Plant Board.

A. C. Mason, assistant entomologist to the state plant board, has resigned, having accepted a position with the federal horticultural board in connection with the pink boll worm investigation. He will take up his new work the first of March.

Mr. C. E. Wilson, formerly employed as assistant nursery inspector, has taken the position of assistant entomologist of the state plant board.

Mr. James E. B. Hall left for Jacksonville last week to assist in the fort and railway inspection work at that point.

Mr. K. E. Bragdon has been elected secretary of the Florida Entomological association to succeed Mr. A. C. Mason.

The plant board authorities are doing a large amount of work in inspecting the parcel post shipments going to points in Florida, this inspection being necessary in order to prevent the introduction of any injurious insect pest or plant disease.

LOCALS.

Professor W. S. Cawthon has been inspecting high schools this week at Dade City, Lakeland and Bartow. He is expected to return to the university today.

F. S. Thompson, a senior in the college of agriculture and as assistant in the correspondence courses, spent two weeks recently in Jacksonville, on leave of absence, in the employ of the Dupont Livestock company at the Interstate stockyards, acting as clerk and office manager.

Mr. Bernace Feaster spent the week-end at his home in Micanopy.

Dr. Henry Carver of Alachua was a visitor at the university Wednesday.

C. H. Chillingworth has returned from a short business trip to Bartow, Plant City and other south Florida towns.

C. P. Green was called home by the sad news of his mother's death. He has the sympathy of the entire university.

"Give Us Bread!" They Cried To New York Mayor

Hundreds of Jewish women of the populous Ghetto of the east side of the city, driven to desperation by the high prices for bread, meat, coal and other necessaries of life, stormed the city hall of New York city the other day demanding to see the mayor. "Give us bread!" scores of them cried. Mrs. Ida Harris, president of the Women's Vigilance league, which has agitated the subject, was the leader. The police gently pushed the women back and they went off to their homes without bread.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Ohio Women to ote for the Next President.

Now, it is Ohio! The presidential woman suffrage bill has passed both houses. Governor Cox's signature is assured. Twenty-four more electoral votes are added to the contingent in which women have a direct voice. Last month North Dakota added 5. Now there are 120 in all.

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, president of the Ohio State Suffrage Association, has been in charge of the suffrage legislative program, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Hauser and many other prominent Ohio suffragists. With the winning of Ohio, suffrage ceases to be a western or even a midwestern issue and becomes an accepted fact in the eastern part of the middle west. No recent victory for suffrage is accounted so significant as the triumph in this great commonwealth. The vote in the house was 72 to 50; in the senate it was 20 to 16.

Conference In Washington.

Secretary of War Baker will deliver the principal address at the mass meeting which will close the conference of the executive council of the National American Woman Suffrage Association to be held in Washington February 23-25. Secretary Baker will speak on the broad subject of conservation and the elimination of economic waste.

The suffrage council has been called to meet to outline plans for effective service by the 2,000,000 women of the National American Woman Suffrage Association in the event of war. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the association, in calling this conference said it was not enough for women, in the face of a national crisis, to make mere protestations of loyalty to the government but that they should devise some plan of assistance, definite in scope and character, which they could guarantee to perform.

Under present circumstances a cabinet officer assumes a delicate responsibility when speaking in public. The secretary of war, however, in accepting the invitation to address the mass meeting was fully aware that the National American Woman Suffrage Association is hoping earnestly that this country will not be involved in war, and does not wish to foment a war psychology, but that it is aware that if war should come women should know what they can do to aid the government and the government should know what it can depend up them to do.

The meeting of the executive council of the National American Woman Suffrage Association is expected to result in an illuminating exposition of the varied capacities in which women will be found valuable in time of national strett. The conferences will give the whole country a graphic idea of the great part which women play in the daily life and business of the United States.

A Suffrage Valentine.

Suffragists have a St. Valentine's day of their own. February 14th is the birthday of a woman believed and revered in suffrage song and story—Annd Howard Shaw. She says it happened seventy years ago. In face of her immortal qualities of youth it takes her own testimony to make you believe it. As the honorary president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, she keeps her hold on the interest and in the activities of the great body of organized suffragists the country over.

Despite the stress of foreign affairs, President Wilson has found time to address a cordial letter to her, congratulating her on the attainment of her seventieth birthday. The president's letter follows:

My dear Doctor Shaw:—

May I not wish you for your seventieth birthday not only a return to strong health, but the happy anticipation of many more years of useful service? You certainly have many years of self-sacrificing work to look back upon with pride and satisfaction, and I want to join with your other friends in wishing you many return of your birthday and an increasing happiness as they come.

Cordially and sincerely yours,
Woodrow Wilson.

The president's letter occupies the place of honor in a handsome volume sent to Dr. Shaw on her birthday. The book also contains letters of congratluations from the presidents of the state suffrage organizations affiliated with the National American Woman Suffrage Association.

When Dr. Shaw began her fight for woman suffrage nearly a half century ago there were only a few small voices to support her. Last year suffrage was the dominant element in a national election. Fifty years ago equal suffrage was an academic theory. It is now a fact in fourteen states—including Ohio.

Dr. Shaw has been a pioneer in many fields. She was the first woman ordained a minister in the Methodist Episcopal church. Her efforts to obtain a college education marked an epoch in co-education. She carried the gospel of equal suffrage into the most remote places, undeterred by the inconvenience of primitive travel.

The Anti In Politics.

Mr. Milton Fairchild, chairman of the executive committee of National Institution for Moral Instruction, was asking assistance from a prominent anti-suffrage woman in a campaign for universal character education of children in the public schools, but did not gain her promise to help. The excuse was given: "Well, you know I am in politics now." His reply was: "This is surprising, the suffrage women are accused of neglecting the children on account of politics, but the anti-suffrage women are supposed to be devoted to the home virtues, and in favos of keeping out of politics for the sake of the children." Mr. Fairchild concludes that "even anti-suffrage women who are deeply concerned for the welfare of the nation do go into politics of necessity when they decide to dosomething for the good of the nation."

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT

To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season

J. A. Gates & Son, have a message.

We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic.

We purpose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn.

We can, we believe, by this method save purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expediciously and satisfactorily.

We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000, and are on lower land; you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year. May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while cheap in price and most attractively located to select now. May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us; and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses to sell or rent to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken.

Dixie Highway Tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney busses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school, churches, literary clubs, fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community.
